HITLER BARELY ESCAPES DEADLY BLAST; ASSASSIN'S BOMB WRECKS MUNICH HALL

15 U. S. TANKERS TRANSFERRED TO FLAG OF PANAMA

Six of Ships Already Fly
Alien Insignia; Rest To Follow With Commission
Okay, It Is Revealed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(AP)—In the midst of controversy over the United States Lines' proposal to hoist the flag of Panama over eight of its ships and operate them to areas closed to American vessels by the new neutrality act, the Maritime Commission disclosed today that it had recently approved a similar flag transfer for 15 Standard Oil tankers.

This word was given out while the commission was preparing to present to President Roosevelt tomorrow a memorandum declaring that the transfer proposed by the United States Lines would not involve this government in any responsibility.

Hull Stands Pat.

Both the commission, which approved the lines' application earlier this week and then held up action at the President's request, and Secretary of State Hull, who opposed the transfer yesterday on the ground that it might seem to nullify neutrality act provisions, appeared to be standing pat.

Chairman Emory S. Land, of the commission, was expected to confer with Mr. Roosevelt shortly after the latter's return to the capital tomorrow from Hyde Park, N. Y., where the President said yesterday that he thought no question of neutrality was involved in the proposed transfer.

The fact that the commission had approved the transfer of 15 Standard Oil tankers between September 1 and November 1 was revealed by a commission representative after Standard Oil officials had reported in New York that at least six of these vessels had been shifted to the flag of Panama in the past six weeks and that the others would eventually make the change.

Ship Old Ones.

Both the commission official and Standard Oil men said the ships were old ones which were replaced with new American tonnage. The commission's representative said there was nothing unusual in the transfer, adding that all tanker companies had large foreign flag fleets and that the commission was continually passing on applications for flag transfers. He said that the United Fruit Line has ships under French, British, German, Panamanian, Honduran and Costa Rican registry and that another American corporation, the Isbrandtsen-Moller Company of New York, operated about 50 ships under the Danish flag.

Officials of the Standard Oil Company said its transferred tankers would be operated by the Panama Transport Company, a Standard Oil subsidiary. They added that most of the ships operated by this company carried trans-Atlantic cargoes and that officers and crews were being replaced by non-Americans.

$97,242 REPORTED PLEDGED TO FUND

$44,161 Still Is Needed;
Several Divisions Are Yet To Make Returns.

Community Fund solicitors reported subscriptions of $97,242 at the first report luncheon yesterday noon with little more than half of the divisions in the field submitting results of the first two days' efforts in the drive. The goal is $541,403.

Topping the list came the groups division under Carl Wolf with a report of $60,108. Second was the second section of advance gifts division headed by Willis Milner with $25,392; women's central division under Mrs. J. N. McEachern, Sr. and Mrs. Emmett L. Quinn with $9,650 was third, and DeKalb county, under Joel Dean, with an incomplete report of $2,092 stood fourth.

Bright spot of the report luncheon, at which each solicitor paid for his own meal, was an announcement by Lobby Jones, chairman of advance gifts division, first section, that the bulk of Greater Atlanta's large givers had substantially increased their subscriptions over last year.

Many of the big givers had jumped their contributions by from 33 to 150 per cent, Jones said.

General Chairman W. C. Harris pointed out that the apparently small report was attributable to the fact that some of the divisions, including Fulton county, men's central, public employees, colored, and a number of units of other divisions had not yet gotten to the stage in their work where a report was feasible.

In an address on giving "The American Way," Robert Strickland, long-term Community Fund

Finns Seize Nazi Ship In Seizure Reprisal

HELSINKI, Finland, Nov. 8.—(UP)—Helsinki authorities today detained a German steamer in what was reported to be a reprisal for capture of the Finnish steamer Olava by a German armed vessel or submarine.

Seizure of the Olava in the Gulf of Bothnia aroused strong resentment in Finnish shipping circles.

EXPERTS PREDICT 10-CENT COTTON BY NEXT SPRING

11,845,000-Bale Forecast
Is Smallest Since 1935;
Average Price 9 Cents
at Ten U. S. Markets.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(P)—Administration farm officials believed it possible today that the grower price of cotton may advance to the highest point since 1936 before the current marketing season is over, if present domestic consumption and export prospects materialize.

Cotton now averages about 9 cents a pound for middling 7-8 growth in the nation's ten spot markets. Some marketing experts expect it to go above 10 cents by spring.

Officials expect a government loan program announced yesterday to play an important role in the anticipated price rise.

May Hold and Cash In.

That program will enable growers to withhold a portion of this year's crop from the market and "cash in" on the better prices if they develop.

Officials said that if present prospects materialize, upwards of 13,500,000 bales of American cotton will be needed to supply domestic and export requirements. However, this year's crop of 11,900,000 bales is considerably short of such demands, even though all of it was sold and none placed under loans.

"Free" Shortage Seen.

Officials said that upwards of 3,000,000 bales might be placed under the new loan program. Thus, a shortage of so-called "free" cotton—cotton not stored under loan and free for movement into consumption and export channels—would develop possibly next spring.

Buyers needing cotton would be forced then, officials said, to acquire cotton stored under loan. They would have to pay the borrowing farmer sufficient to induce him to withdraw the crop from "hock."

CAMPAIGN BEGUN FOR SMALLER CROP IN '40

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(P)—A United States cotton crop of 11,845,000 bales—the smallest since 1935—was forecast by the Federal Crop Reporting Board today. At the same time the Agricultural Adjustment Administration inaugurated a mail campaign to win grower approval of a plan designed Acme Telephoto.

Had the party lapsed into conviviality like this, Hitler would have been present yesterday when an "explosive body" ripped the Rosenheimer street beer cellar, killed six of the Nazi veterans annually present and in-

SIX NAZIS KILLED, 60 ARE INJURED IN RIPPING EXPLOSION

Reward of $200,000 Is Offered for Persons Responsible; High Party Officials Are Present.

BERLIN, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler escaped possible death or injury by a few minutes today in an explosion which wrecked the famous Buergerbrau beer cellar in Munich after he had completed a fighting war speech.

The terrific blast brought down the ceiling of the spacious room, killing six and injuring more than 60 among the old Nazi leaders who had come together to celebrate the famous putsch in 1923 that failed.

Hitler Safe.

Hitler himself, the cheers of his trusted comrades still ringing in his ears, was safe on an armored train speeding toward Berlin when the blast that go.

The men killed were veterans of Hitler's party who now are the aristocracy of the Nazi movement.

But it was stated by authorities that none of the distinguished leaders of Nazidom was among the dead or injured.

Propaganda Minister Goebbels, Deputy Party Leader Rudolf Hess, Minister of the Interior Wilhelm Frick, Julius Streicher, Robert Ley and Sister Pia—the only woman who was among Hitler's old battlers—had attended the party's anniversary celebration.

But as far as could be learned several hours after the blast, all either had left with Hitler or departed shortly after he had stepped into his car in Rosenheimer street at the conclusion of his address.

Foreign Agents.

After the confusion subsided somewhat authorities said there were clues that the blast had been arranged by "foreign agents."

Great excitement was said to exist in Munich, and extraordinary security measures were ordered throughout the Reich.

No reason for the belief that foreign agents might be responsible was given, but the government at once offered a $50,000 mark (about $240,000) reward for the persons responsible—one of the largest rewards in European history.

The explosion apparently came from above in the hall in which Hitler and other old guard Nazis planned the 1923 "beer cellar."

Three gun charges struck him in the head, killing him instantly. His .45-caliber pistol, unfired, lay beside him in the seat of his car. Apparently, he hadn't been given a chance to return the shots.

O'Hare, 45, had been president of the National Jockey Club, operators of Sportsman horse racing park in suburban Cicero since its inception in 1934, and was formerly publisher of the Cicero Tribune. He took over the newspaper after the slaying of Louis "Diamond Louis" Cowan in 1933.

Police said O'Hare evidently realized too late that he was being trailed by three carloads of gunmen. But, trying desperately to evade them, he stepped on the accelerator of his high-powered auto, this state of things will continue.

Meanwhile, the President indicated at Hyde Park today that he was still sticking to the true on politics, which was called in connection with the neutrality debate.

When a reporter inquired whether there might not be some politics now that the neutrality legislation has been enacted, he replied that there was none, so far as he was concerned.

KISS AFTER MIDNIGHT

By Margaret Gorman Nichols

Rome was having a red-letter day in the lives of five people, who were to find themselves running the gauntlet of mixed emotions.

Starts today on the comic page.

The Hitler story is on Page 1 and the other European news will be found on Page 12.

Mere Minutes Save Fuehrer

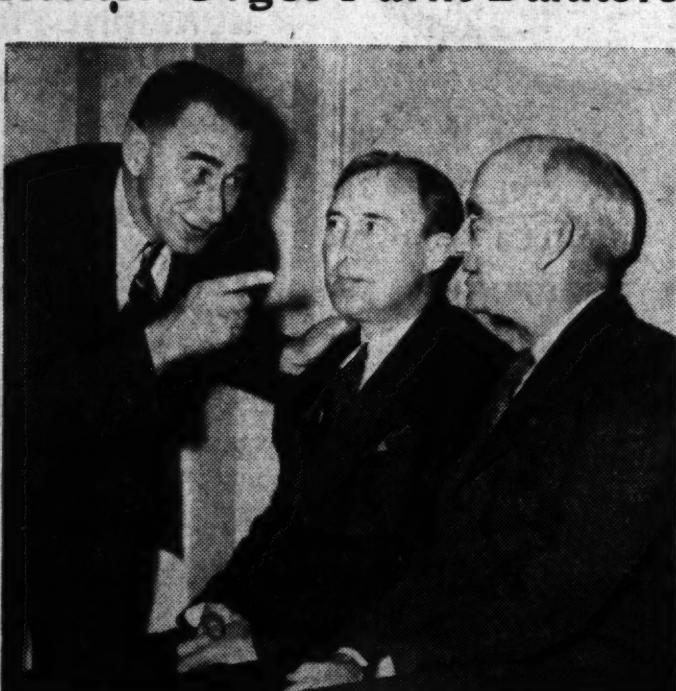

Herr Hitler had a rendezvous with Death yesterday afternoon in a Munich beer hall. Fate decreed that the Nazi Fuehrer should leave unscathed minutes before the blast which killed 6 and injured 60 friends of the German ruler.

Such short intervals of time does destiny spin the web of history.

That blast could have been felt by every living soul on this planet.

There was no additional peace news in Europe last night, and likewise little war news. But at Philadelphia, two ships were loading for Genoa and Marseilles. Not unusual, except that these ships flew the Swiss flag and had the name of that land-locked country freshly painted on their sides.

The Hitler story is on Page 1 and the other European news will be found on Page 12.

COTTON PROVISIONS ANNOUNCED BY U.S.

Loan Rate of Georgia Counties, Based on Middling, Set at 9.20.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(P)—The Agriculture Department announced today grade and staple and location differential provisions of the 1939 cotton loan program under which cotton of better grades and staples stored nearest mill centers and ports would be eligible for highest rates.

The rate for Georgia is set at 9.20, and covers the entire state for middling white, 7-8 inch.

The base rate is 8.7 cents a pound, net weight, for middling 7-8 inch cotton.

A location differential was established for each cotton-growing county. The base rate for middling 7-8 inch cotton stored in New Mexico and western Texas will be eligible for the minimum rate of 8.7 cents, while the base rate in counties in North and South Carolina will be 9.3 cents. The rates in other counties will be between these figures.

Cotton classing above 7-8 inch middling will be eligible for a loan rate carrying a premium above the location base rate, while cotton classing below will be eligible for a rate carrying a discount below the location rate.

Friends Fete McCord as He Reaches '85

Judge T. H. Jeffries (left), veteran Fulton county ordinary, extends congratulations and best wishes for "many happy returns" to H. Y. McCord, who celebrated his 85th birthday anniversary yesterday. They are shown at a party in Mr. McCord's honor at the home of T. K. Glenn.

H. Y. McCord Works, Talks Fishing On 85th Birthday Anniversary

Atlanta Business Leader Recalls Sherman's Raid on His Childhood Home in Jackson; Watched City Grow From Country Town; Wedding Anniversary, Too.

By BETTY MATHIS.

"Uncle Henry" McCord was 85 years old yesterday, but he didn't think there was anything very remarkable about the fact. It was simply another business day for him, though he did make one concession to the occasion—he slept late.

But Uncle Henry, who is known to his business associates as H. Y. McCord, president of the wholesale grocery firm which he founded in 1886, came to work just the same, looked over his mail and saw that everything was running smoothly.

Last night he devoted the evening to talk of fishing, his favorite sport, at the annual meeting of the Homosassa Fishing Club, of which he is the only remaining charter member.

Golding Fishing Next Week.

This organization, composed of Atlantans who go each year to Homosassa, Fla., to fish in the river there, was founded in 1898 by 14 sportsmen, of whom one was Mr. McCord. In 1904, the group was incorporated with 24 members.

Mr. McCord plans to leave Atlanta on November 16 to take his annual fling at the heavy biting black bass, trout and red fish. He hopes to top his record catch, a 20-pound red fish, on the trip. In fact, he has visions of beating the young woman who was fishing near him when she pulled out a 32-pounder.

In addition to his love of fishing, he is an ardent baseball fan, never missing a Cracker home game except on Sundays, which he thinks should be devoted to more serious things.

Saw Sherman's Raid.

He was born at Jackson, Ga., November 8, 1854, and was a child when Sherman marched through the town, burning the courthouse, the jail and many of the stores in the town, two of which belonged to his father. His memories of the search of his family's house by Yankees are still keen, and he still feels resentment for those acts which took place in the war so long ago.

And he still hasn't got much use for Yankees, having recently left

Thinning hair at these danger points should warn you and alarm you—but should not cause you to feel baldness is inevitable. Thinning hair can be stopped and baldness can be avoided if you consult a Thomas expert.

Ninety percent of all cases of hair loss result from the 14 local scalp disorders which respond readily to Thomas treatment. Don't Put Off "ALKALIZING" when you have these signs of ACID INDIGESTION

Today it's so easy to "alkalize" excess acids anywhere you are. Now when distress comes at home, all you do is take 2 tablespoons of liquid Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. When you are out with others, simply slip 2 Phillips' Tablets in your mouth like you would candy mints. That's all you do to feel wonderful.

Either form of Phillips' works the same way—very quickly. You can't wait for welcome fast relief from after-eating distress. Almost at once you feel "gas", nausea, that "jumpy" feeling from hyper-acidity begin to ease. "Acid" headaches, "acid breath" are corrected right at the source.

RACE NEWS SERVICE TO STOP IN ILLINOIS

Wires Will Be Cut Off Today; Others Hinge on Hearing.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—(P)—M. L. Annenberg's race news service lost its fight to retain wire facilities in Illinois today but won the right to continue operations in the rest of the nation for at least a week. The Illinois Bell Telephone Company announced it would cut off the wires it had leased to the racing information system at noon tomorrow after federal Judge James H. Wilkerson declined to issue an order restraining the utility from breaking its contracts with the Annenberg agencies.

At the same time the jurist directed the American Telephone & Telegraph Company to maintain cross-country wires it rented to Annenberg's nation-wide horse race news network until next Wednesday, when he planned to hear further arguments on the petition of Annenberg's attorneys for an injunction to prohibit the A. T. & T. from withdrawing the wires.

J. TOM SMITH TO HEAD STEWARDS AT ST. MARK

J. Tom Smith was named chairman of the board of stewards of the St. Mark Methodist church at the reorganization meeting last night, succeeding T. H. Scott. to produce another small crop next year.

The forecast, based on conditions November 1, was 83,000 bales lower than the board's October estimate, and compared with a 1938 crop of 11,943,000 bales and a ten-year (1928-37) average of 13,800,000 bales.

Because of a record surplus of American cotton, the AAA is asking producers to approve strict marketing quotas on the 1940 crop at a referendum to be held December 9.

If quotas are approved by the necessary two-thirds of the growers voting, the production goal will be about the same as that of the past two seasons.

The AAA is sending printed material to the south, saying that rejection of the quota system will result in accumulation of a greater surplus and bring lower cotton prices.

Average Yield High.

The crop report said the indicated yield per acre for the country was 234.1 pounds, the third highest of record and about 10 per cent above the average of the five most recent years. The average last year was 235.8, the second highest of record. In comparison with these recent years, yields were much below average in Alabama, above in North Carolina and Georgia, slightly above average in Mississippi, Tennessee and Texas, and considerably above average in the other important states.

Weather conditions were said to have been unusually favorable for picking and ginning of the crop, the report asserting that on November 1 the percentage ginned was much above average. The amount ginned prior to November 1 was reported at 10,085,280 bales.

The new schedule for domestic consumers provides a $1.11 per month rate for 15 kilowatt hours or less, 5 cents each for the next 60 kilowatt hours; 22 cents each for the next 125 kilowatt hours, and 1.67 cents each for all over 200 kilowatt hours per month. The 10 per cent discount for prompt payment is to be continued.

The old domestic rate fixed the price of the first 25 kilowatt hours at 7.22 cents each; 5.55 cents each for the next 35 kilowatt hours; 3.33 cents each for the next 140, and 1.67 cents each for all over 200 kilowatt hours per month.

Complaints Table.

The commission compiled the following table showing the decreases for customers in various brackets:

KWH Per Month	Old Rate	New Rate
15 KWH	$1.11	$1.06
25 KWH	1.63	1.45
35 KWH	2.13	1.90
75 KWH	2.88	2.58
100 KWH	3.53	3.20
125 KWH	4.58	4.20
150 KWH	5.33	4.70
180 KWH	6.08	5.20
175 KWH	6.83	5.70
200 KWH	7.58	6.20
220 KWH	8.33	6.95
250 KWH	9.08	7.70

The order yesterday came after an exhaustive investigation by the commission, during which the company attempted to show that a reduction in rates would cause it to fall below the net return allowed on its investment.

automobile and sped northeast toward the loop.

When he saw he was going to be overtaken, he attempted to turn sharply into a side street. His car careened and struck a lamp post.

One of the three cars, witnesses said, slowed nearly to a stop as one of the two occupants leveled a gun, took dead aim and fired at O'Hare, who apparently was slumped over his steering wheel, unconscious from injuries suffered in the collision with the post.

Colorful Figure.

O'Hare was a colorful figure in track circles and was well known in the fraternity of those who have won or lost a fortune on the roll of the dice or the turn of a card without batting an eye.

In his pockets was found a slip bearing Seltzer's telephone number and another which under the word "open" listed Florida, Georgia, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, St. Louis and Boston.

REPUBLIC STEEL LOSES COURT TILT OVER 1937 STRIKE

Reinstatement and Back Pay Order Would Cost $7,500,000; To Appeal to U. S. Supreme Court.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—(AP)—The Republic Steel Corporation lost today in the United States circuit court of appeals its fight to set aside a national Labor Relations Board order directing reinstatement of 5,000 Ohio workers involved in the "little steel" strike of 1937.

The appellate court unanimously upheld the order and concurred with the labor board in holding Republic to blame for the strike which spread through the corporation's mills at Warren, Canton, Youngstown, Massillon and Cleveland.

The court's ruling also requires the corporation to pay back wages estimated by Republic counsel at $7,500,000. Republic now has pending in federal court at Cleveland a $7,500,000 damage suit against the CIO and various CIO unions growing out of the strike.

Republic said at Cleveland it had not received a copy of the decision "but to the extent that it may be adverse we intend to appeal to the United States Supreme Court."

The corporation added in a statement that "all but a relative few" of the workers involved in the strike already have been returned to work in accordance with a company policy of re-employing "all except those who were guilty of violence as soon as possible."

In the only exception to the original labor board order, made in 1938, the circuit court held that 40 of those ordered reinstated need not be re-employed. They were convicted of carrying explosives, damaging property and interfering with the mails.

The court upheld the labor board's finding that the strike at the five Ohio plants was not a sit-down.

SWOC TO PRESS

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8.—(AP)—The Steel Workers' Organizing Committee, halting the United States circuit court's decision in Philadelphia in the Republic Steel Company labor case, announced today it would press for immediate labor board hearings on similar cases in involving company works in Buffalo, N. Y., Monroe, Mich., and Chicago.

SWOC Regional Director Clinton S. Golden said in a statement the conditions in the Buffalo, Monroe and Chicago plants "are exactly as found to have existed in the Ohio plants."

ATLANTA, GA., NOVEMBER 9, 1938.

Government by Minority

In the most recent issue of The Texas Weekly, Dale Miller takes as the text for a challenging analysis of congressional weakness, the recent motion picture entitled "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington."

While agreeing that the story of the idealist who goes to Washington as senator from his home state, only to find corruption in the senate itself, makes good screen fare, Mr. Miller declares that if a real "Mr. Smith" went to Washington today he would find quite a different condition.

"He would detect corruption, right enough," says Mr. Miller, "but it would be of a different kind." He then proceeds to show how it is the exigency of political survival, not money, that buys congressional votes. He tells how it is the anxiety to be re-elected, returned to office, which determines how most congressmen cast their votes, rather than the greatest good for the greatest number.

Of recent years there has come into being a new development of the "organized minority" power, a power which exerts so baleful an effect on congress. It began, probably, with the organized campaigns of the professional "dry's" before and during the prohibition era, but it has since been perfected into a weapon which, in many instances, has been used to enforce demands for legislation in the interest of selfish or fanatical minorities, rather than for the good of the entire nation.

Through the radio, through organized letter writing campaigns, through a streamlined application of the ancient "lobby," congress has been cajoled and tricked and frightened into voting contrary to the true wishes of a majority of its constituents, the real voters of America.

Mr. Miller declares that, if his mythical "Mr. Smith" could stand by the Lincoln Memorial wall and read that President's most famous utterance, "he would realize that a government of, by, and for the people has been metamorphosed through the years into a government of, by, and for organized minorities."

All of which is, sadly, true. Yet it is scarcely up-to-date. For there has, recently, been an indication that congress is at last awakening to the trickery which has been practiced and is, finally, beginning to ignore, in part at least, the onslaught of the professional pressure bringers.

During the senate debate upon repeal of the arms embargo, members of both houses were flooded with letters, telegrams and telephone calls, demanding that the move for repeal be defeated, that the embargo be retained. Yet the final vote revealed, as Washington observers had predicted for weeks, it would reveal, the senatorial targets for this barrage of inspired communication understood, thoroughly, that most of the letters were inspired by professional campaigners, that the "voice of the people" was, in truth, but a mechanized loudspeaker, operated for profit by adept propagandists with selfish purposes.

Concluding his editorial Mr. Miller points out that the ills of American democracy today are not actually rooted in congress. They merely show their symptoms there. The real disease goes deeper, to the people themselves. Heroic stands by one-man filibusterers, on the floor of the senate, are but superficial treatment of one visible sore. It is in the hearts of the people that the illness must really be attacked. The final paragraph of the Miller editorial points to the one remedy possible.

"Somewhere in the hearts of all Americans there must be cherished a profound devotion to democratic ideals, and somewhere in their minds there must be the capacity to translate them into everlasting reality. This would be the faith of our humble Mr. Smith and this would constitute the simplicity of his appeal to the American people. He would seek a reawakening among them to the blessings of liberty and justice, beseeching the Jefferson Smiths everywhere to dedicate themselves to the task remaining still, that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from the earth."

A Large Target

The consensus among observers seems to be that losses to Allied shipping will mount rapidly as shipments of war materials increase following the modification of the neutrality law. This conclusion, of course, is based on the presumption that Germany hasn't already utilized every means to sink vessels en route to British and French ports, that submarine warfare will now become "unrestricted" and therefore more intensified.

If this presumption is correct it probably means neutral shipping will suffer the greatest losses. There is no reason for believing Germany hasn't already utilized every means at her disposal to sink British and French ships.

According to the latest figures 58 British vessels and seven French have been sunk. Thirty-three neutral vessels, including 10 Norwegian, seven Swedish and five Finns, have been sent to the bottom. Denmark has suffered the loss of the passenger liner, Canada, a vessel of 11,000 tons. Holland, Greece, Russia, Belgium and Rumania have also suffered losses. Germany has lost only 12 ships for the simple reason few, if any, Nazi vessels have been, or are now, at sea.

Recently the British admiralty gave out figures which indicated the enormous size of the target at which the German navy may point their guns and torpedoes. Every day of every month, the statement read, an average of 1,500 loaded vessels are en route between British ports and far-flung countries of the world.

So, when it is remembered every available shipyard in Britain—and Britain is a nation of shipyards—has new vessels on the ways, that new ships are being launched every week, that in more than two months only 58 British vessels have been sunk, it is easier to understand the underlying reason for British optimism.

It should not be forgotten, either, in this economic conflict between the Allies and Germany, that when a vessel is halted on the high seas by a German submarine, the cargo goes to the bottom. When a ship is stopped by British or French naval vessels, the cargo goes, not to the bottom of the sea, but to Britain or France.

While there may be quite a few hits, perhaps an occasional bull's-eye, the fact should not be forgotten that the target is quite large.

The Right Stuff

Every now and then a news story comes through that reaffirms all faith in human nature. The experience of seven-year-old Bruce Crozier, a level-headed lad who was lost six days and nights before he found his way out of some of the most rugged country in Arizona, is a case in point.

Bruce's reactions were a lesson in good humor and common sense. From his hospital bed, he spoke up: "Nurse, is there any hot water? I sure need a bath." Then he asked if he could get up. Told he would have to remain in bed, he said: "I want to walk around. If I can't get up, then open the windows and raise the shades. I want to see out."

Speaking casually of his adventure—an ordeal few persons could have survived—he told of climbing Promontory Point, a landmark in the region where searchers found his tracks, and looking down into the canyon below, where it was green. The lad said he reasoned that if it was green, water must be there. He found water, but nothing to eat. He remarked, "The squirrels beat me to the acorns every time."

By following a forest service telephone line, the lad was finally rescued. "I want a drink and I'm hungry" were his first words to those who found him.

What's become of the old-time all-powerful British fleet that could call its shots, like "the pocket battleship in the end pocket?"

Shooting a trouble car out to pick up the Byrd snow cruiser may be the coming thing in Little America garage circles.

As to when this war will start, it all depends, and if you ask, "depends on what?" why, that again depends.

In the west, a convict who cut his way to freedom had been working on the warden's correspondence. Looking over some old files, is the theory.

Five years after its initial appearance, the mechanical cotton-picker still needs improvement. It can't breathe on the dice and roll its point.

German patrols crossed the French frontier and returned with "as much war material as they could carry." To be laid away, no doubt, in case a war breaks.

Editorial of the Day

ANTI-FARMER GOVERNMENT

(From The Charleston News and Courier.) As long as a "fair wages and hours law" shall limit the hours of labor for one class of producers and not limit them for another, prices of the products of the first class will tend to rise and prices of the products of the second to decrease, with the necessary result that the producers of the second class will be impoverished for the benefit of the members of the first. The farm workers are the members of the second class, and most of the members of the first are factory and town workers. The United States government is now carried on for the benefit of cities and towns.

Yesterday, we wondered where, oh, where had parity gone—with what the federal farm leaders at Washington again admitting that the prices of farm products were entirely too low. We spoke of the high cost of manufactured goods and the low cost of farm products, and we pointed out that all farm leaders agree that the gap must be widened if any measure of permanent prosperity is to be brought to the American farmer. These goods are but the product of labor—and how can the gap be narrowed if city labor continues to be nothing more than plans, highly colored bait for "sucker money," that most southerners with money to invest are today particularly wary of the man who comes to them with opportunity to invest directly in new enterprises in their own locality.

The south has been too gullible. Today, however, it is too suspicious. It has been made so.

THE CAPITAL PARADE

By JOSEPH ALSOP AND ROBERT KINTNER.

SEEKING TAX IDEAL. WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Painless taxation is as difficult to conceive as painless dentistry, but it is the cherished dream of Undersecretary of the Treasury John Wesley Hanes. Under the benign eye of Secretary Henry Morgenthau Jr., the indefatigable Hanes is still striving to bring the tax structure's unbeautiful realities more into line with his ideal.

Since Hanes is not after tax reductions, and the taxpayer's saddest moment comes when he fills in his check, Hanes' efforts probably have more symbolic than actual importance. But it is now time to note that, after many false starts and much mockery, a sound improvement in government-business relations has unquestionably been achieved. Business has not been "appeased," nor has the administration "surrendered," as some of the more fervent New Dealers fear it might. Yet a decidedly new spirit is in evidence.

On the one hand, most of the major Rooseveltian reforms have at last been accepted by businessmen. Except for the National Labor Relations act, businessmen seem to feel that the New Deal laws have come to stay. On the other hand, at the Treasury, the SEC, the Commerce Department, the White House itself and in many other important governmental centers, there is a new tendency to call business into consultation and make use of their services. It is foolish to be Pollyannaish; the truce may dissolve into a furious controversy tomorrow. But it would be equally foolish to ignore the new spirit above-mentioned.

BLOODY ASSIZES This phenomenon is best illustrated by Hanes' struggles with the tax problem, for the very reason that hitherto taxes have always been the sorest point of friction between the administration and business. In the days of Herman Oliphant, tax matters were approached rather in the spirit of Judge Jeffries' bloody assizes. The stake, the ducking-stool and the whipping-post were not in use, but the businessmen seemed to feel that Oliphant had discovered some pretty substitutes, in the shape of the undisturbed corporate profits tax, the soak-the-rich income taxes and the strict capital gains tax.

Simultaneously, congressional opposition strengthened against these Oliphantine tax weapons, and Hanes came to the treasury. Morgenthau and Hanes between them evolved a theory that, so long as the revenue flowed in, it was well to make the revenue producers as happy as possible. With this end in view, Hanes and his boss produced their tax revision program of last year.

Then, however, the new spirit of kindness to business had not fully permeated the administration, and especially the White House. The President still fearful of the appearance of compromise, was decidedly balky. Morgenthau had nailed his colors to the mast. Hanes was ready to resign if necessary. The issue might have been drawn, and moderation banished even from the treasury, if Senator Pat Harrison and other congressional leaders had not firmly backed the treasury. The contrast between past and present becomes all the stronger, when you realize that the new Hanes tax plans are expected to be more or less unopposed.

AUGURIES FOR PEACE Of themselves, the Hanes plans are technical, and not overly stirring except to the businessmen whom they may affect. Hanes, the real leader in bettering government-business relations, has prepared them after elaborate consultation with more than 300 outstanding men of every business class.

As currently drawn, they call for: 1. Reinstating the old system of consolidated returns by corporations and their subsidiaries, in order to make tax figuring easier; 2. Establishment of a policy on asset-depreciation uniform with the policies of the regulatory agencies; and 3. Minor amplifications of the tax laws to make them clearer and to reduce the innumerable tax suits against the government. There is also the usual recommendation, just for the look of the thing, of reducing indirect taxation and increasing direct to make up.

Minor attacks on these proposals may come from several quarters. For example, consolidated corporate returns were abolished in the first place on the demand of John N. Garner, then an anti-Wall Street mood. But the real test of the new government-business spirit will be whether the New Deal group, previously most unfriendly to the Hanes tax theories, decides to fly to the attack.

Among the New Dealers, there has been a general talk of war profit taxes, higher capital gains levies and the like. If this talk matures, real opposition to Hanes' program is likely to develop with it. The tax problem is certainly the most likely subject for a major domestic controversy. But still, as of today, the auguries for peace appear to be fairly promising.

Southern Capital.

In all discussions—and they are constant—concerning southern, and Georgia, problems, there is one fact which is never overlooked. That is the dependence upon northern, or foreign, capital which has been so predominant in past history of southern industrial growth and of southern investment.

There has been, for decades, a serious and constant drain upon southern earnings in the form of dividends and interest paid to the capitalists of other sections who have provided the financial means by which industrial plants have been constructed and financial institutions founded.

There is no denying this. It is self-evident. We have paid, and continue to pay, this tribute to wealthier sections, because we have lacked the capital to undertake our own development.

But there is another side, even to this condition. That is, southerners themselves have, in many cases, been afraid to trust their capital to southern undertakings. They have preferred to send their money to the north, to be invested in insurance funds, investment trusts and northern industry. Why? The blunt answer must be because they tell these northern investments were safer. There was not so great a capital risk as in southern development.

And thus we come to a search for the reason, or reasons, for this reluctance on the part of southern capital to move directly into southern investment. It moved indirectly, of course. For much of the southern money, that went north, came back to the south in the form of those northern investments upon which we have depended, but only after it had left its tribe in the pockets of the northerners who controlled it, who handled it on behalf of their southern capitalist clients.

That's all. Except that the next sound and legitimate proposition that comes along finds it impossible to uncover capital in the south. So it turns, as of old, to the investment houses of the north and there is another enterprise making profit for northern investors and draining the south of progress that should rightfully be hind the bars.

That's all. Except that the next sound and legitimate proposition that comes along finds it impossible to uncover capital in the south. So it turns, as of old, to the investment houses of the north and there is another enterprise making profit for northern investors and draining the south of progress that should rightfully be hind the bars.

It's sad telling, friends, but after all it is rather logical, don't you think?

Twenty-Five Years Ago Today.

From the news columns of Monday, November 9, 1914:

"London, November 8.—The German and Austrian armies now are on the defensive both on the east and west."

And Fifty Years Ago.

From the news columns of Saturday, November 9, 1889:

"Dr. S. Mary Hicks has removed her office to Trader's bank building, No. 10 Decatur street, opposite the Kimball."

Watch Was Fast.

A carefully-prepared speech in his pocket, State Senator Leonard G. Muse strolled up to the desk of the hotel room clerk in Roanoke, Virginia.

"Where is the banquet of the Association of Virginia Trial Justices being held?"

"Why, that's next month, Senator," smiled the clerk.

The senator looked at his speech, "Looking Ahead with the Trial Justice," and grinned, too.

Wrong About Irish.

Back from Ireland after 11 years of residence there, Mrs. Vincent Kelly, of Eagleville, Mo., says she never once saw the kind of a character the American stage and comic section create for Irish roles. "And I've seen only a few red-haired Irishmen," she said.

Quick Relief from Pile Irritation

30 years ago a Buffalo druggist created an ointment for relief from the itching and smarting of piles. It brought such quick cooling, soothing, astringent relief that its fame spread throughout the country, and made Peterson's Ointment a favorite in thousands of homes. 36-DEGREE LOW TODAY FORECASTBut Sun Expected To Send Mercury Into 60's.

A 46-degree drop in temperature from yesterday afternoon's high of 72 has been forecast for this morning by the United States Weather Bureau.

This morning's low will be a frosty 36°, bureau officials declared, but fair skies and a bright sun will send the thermometer up into the high sixties by midafternoon.

Yesterday morning's low was 46° degrees.

Clear, brisk weather will be the order of the day for the southeastern states.

FACING THE DAWN.
Mrs. Jessie Burrall Eubank, of Cincinnati, writing twice daily this week at Druid Hills Baptist church, in our annual Christian Life Emphasis Week, has brought us anew to realize the joy of Christian discipleship—a note which lends strength to all who will receive it and act upon it. In her admirable address on "Christian Joy" she quoted the following poem by William Hiram Foulkes:

*Sunrise and morning star,
And one clear call to give.
And may there be no clouding of the skies,
When I set forth to live.
But such a glow as shining seems ablate.
Too full for shade or night.
When that which drew from out the sun's vast rays
Bursts forth in light.*

*Daylight and morning bell,
And after that—to work,
And may there be no soft and subtle spell.
To make me shirk.
For though into the maze of toil
and strife,
My tasks may set my way;
I hope to meet my Master life to life,
As I shall live this day.*

That, I submit, is the true Christian philosophy in facing the dawn—every dawn. Jesus did not promise an easy life to any who follow Him, but He did most definitely give assurance of His grace to strengthen us in every task—"And lo, I am with you always, even to the end of the way."

The power of God in trusting hearts is the answer to every need of our troubled world. We live it with all my heart. I see it verified every day. Here is a

RAPS VIEW OF DIXIE BY 'DOUGHNUT HOLE'Look at 'Whole Doughnut,' McKay Tells Ad Club, Showing South Rich.

Southern pictures in northern magazines often are just another "doughnut hole survey" of the south, Forbes McKay, advertising authority, told the Atlanta Advertising Club at its luncheon yesterday.

"It is so easy to take the empty space in the middle and say 'this is the south' and you may expect the south's commercial competitors to do it now and in future," Mr. McKay asserted. "It is up to us to show the solid, delicious cake that surrounds the empty space."

McKay outlined the cake in the southern doughnut with statistics from United States government surveys which reveal the southern farmer actually as more prosperous and enjoying a higher level of economic success than his contemporary in other sections.

"Of the 2,937,482 farm families in the entire United States with incomes of $1,000 a year or more, 1,074,000 of them live in the south and their average income actually is $2,002 per year as compared to $1,852 a year for all other sections of the union," Mr. McKay asserted.

He stated that an entirely untrue picture of agricultural income is presented statistically by classing share-croppers in the south as "farmers" while eliminating field hands in the north, who do the same kind of work but whose low incomes do not figure in the statistical averages of farmer incomes.

STORK MAKES VISIT TO VETS' HOSPITAL

WHITE RIVER JUNCTION, VT., Nov. 8.—(P)—Cynthia Ann Lawton has the distinction today of being the first and only baby born in a United States veterans' hospital.

The stork overtook Cynthia Ann's mother while she was en route to Hanover, N. H. Mrs. Lawton was rushed into the hospital and Dr. Frank E. Mason, overseas veteran, brought Cynthia Ann into the world.

In answer to the hospital's query, the Veterans' Bureau at Washington replied in substance: "You are right. It's the first case of its kind in the country. Hope the baby is fine."

She is.

County To Save $30,000. Closing Negro Penal CampProblem of 55 Prisoners at Women's Penal Farm Will Be Referred to the State; Dodd's Program Gets Unanimous Approval.

Plans for abandoning the Fulton county negro women's prison camp as a $30,000-a-year economy move were announced yesterday by Fulton county commissioners in special session to approve further recommendations for the new program at the white industrial farm, including a change in its name to the Fulton County Vocational and Industrial School for Boys.

Commissioners Ed Almand, George Hallay and Dr. Charles R. Adams, those present, concurred unanimously in Ira M. Dodd's selection of personnel and plans for operating the reform school as an educational institution.

Move Set for December 1.

Almand, board chairman, said that the negro women's prison camp, where some 85 prisoners are now kept, will be abandoned as of December 1, and that the county will save, as the result, approximately $30,000 a year.

Frank Eaves, building superintendent, was authorized to remodel section of the negro arms house as detention quarters for about 30 negro women prisoners and the remainder will be turned over to the state.

"The state does not want to take our prisoners because they haven't any money," A. A. Clarke, warden and superintendent of public roads, told the commissioners. He quoted Grover C. Byars, chairman of the board of penitentiaries, as saying that the state may have to leave the women in jail because it has no place to put them in camps.

"It's the State's Duty."

"We can't help that," remarked Almand. "It's the state's duty to care for them and we have got to turn them over to the state." The county has been maintaining the negro women convicted of misdemeanors in this county. Almand, Commissioner J. A. Ragdale and Clarke are to confer further with Byars next week.

Dodd told the commissioners that the white industrial farm is running "smoother than I expected."

His staff, approved by the commissioners, follows:

W. H. Maxwell, shop foreman; L. C. Phillips, athletic supervisor; L. W. Brown, athletic director; Mrs. L. M. Brown, secretary—stenographer; Tom Miller, guard; Joe Clegg, shop assistant; Claude W. Lester, shop assistant; H. A. Hall, cook; H. M. White, nightwatchman; J. F. Davis, nightwatch-

ROSS IS RETURNED TO HAPEVILLE JOBCity Engineer Reinstituted for 30 Days.

R. M. Ross, city engineer of Hapeville, was reinstated to his post for a 30-day period Tuesday night by city council and ordered to complete a record of the work he supervised in a recent sewer project.

Ross was suspended last week on inefficiency charges after Councilman W. E. Campbell, chairman of the streets, water and sewer committee, charged that sewer pipe had been reportedly diverted from public use.

At its next meeting December 5, the Hapeville council is expected to study the records and blue prints of Ross' work and vote whether or not to retain his services.

Want to Feel like a Big Shot?

PROBABLY you're a big shot already to someone, so you know something of how good it feels.

What we mean is, how'd you like to feel like you used to think a big shot must feel, cruising along in his big brawny Buick, envy of every youngster in town?

Fact is, a big brawny Buick — this year's beauty of a Buick — is within your reach right now, if you just put your mind to it.

A husky headlong 107-horsepowered giant valve-in-head straight-eight can be yours to command — you can roll around town in the staunch and steady carriage that's sure big, beautiful and a bearcat in action when its boss gives the word!

And what do you pay for all this — budget-busting prices?

Ix-nay! On the contrary, you can buy a Buick for less than some sixes! And you'll find when you look into what's included in these prices that they cover many an item that you will be asked to pay extra for elsewhere.

All it takes, really, is the imagination to step up to the car you've really wanted — and once you've made that step, there's no real problem, for this Buick retains its extra first cost in the extra trade-in value it has when you come to buy again.

So lift your sights and go after the car you really want — which means talk ing to your nearest Buick dealer.

WAR TO BE FOUGHT IN PACIFIC OCEAN, U.S. IS CAUTIONED

Fight for South Sea Islands, Including Philippines, Is Coming, Japanese Newspaper Says.

TOKYO, Nov. 9 (Thursday).—(UP)—The newspaper Kokumin, extremely nationalistic organ which circulates largely in military circles, said today that when the European war is over there will be war in the Pacific, "including the Philippines."

"After the European war, it is clear that war will be fought in the Pacific to acquire the resources of the south seas islands, including the Philippines, as the likely scene of a contest between various powers," the newspaper said.

"In order to prepare for such a situation it is of primary importance that Japan insure peace and order in China."

"If the United States persists in remaining hostile to Japan, then the United States not only will bring a serious crisis on herself, but will face the likelihood of being shut out of east Asia altogether."

CHURCHILL SHOUTS DEFIANCE AT NAZIS

Claims U-Boat and Pocket Battleship Menace Is Defeated.

By EDWIN STOUT.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Winston Churchill thundered, "We shall break their hearts," in a confident recital tonight of Britain's gains at sea against a background of new peace overtures received without optimism.

The first lord of the admiralty reported loss by accidental explosion of the British submarine Oxley, but said the navy had whipped the German submarine and pocket battleship menace.

Publication of the loss during the first week of the war of the Oxley, which normally carried 54 officers and men, was forbidden at that time. Churchill said "every loss inflicted by the enemy has at once been announced," but explained that the Oxley explosion was "in circumstances which made its publication inadvisable at the time."

He did not disclose where or exactly when the Oxley was sunk or if any loss of life was suffered.

He told commons in his weekly report on sea warfare, that German submarines have been sunk at the rate of between two and four a week, "a fairly sound, conservative estimate."

However, he added, Germany was capable of turning out two new ones a week, and he expected Britain "must face 100 U-boats in January, less whatever sinkings have occurred."

He announced also that the number of lives lost by Britain's navy alone was greater so far than all other French and British services combined.

(Known naval losses, exclusive of any suffered in the explosion of the Oxley, were at least 1,340 lives, including 810 on the sunken battleship Royal Oak, 515 aboard the aircraft carrier Courageous, and 15 during German air raids on the Firth of Forth.)

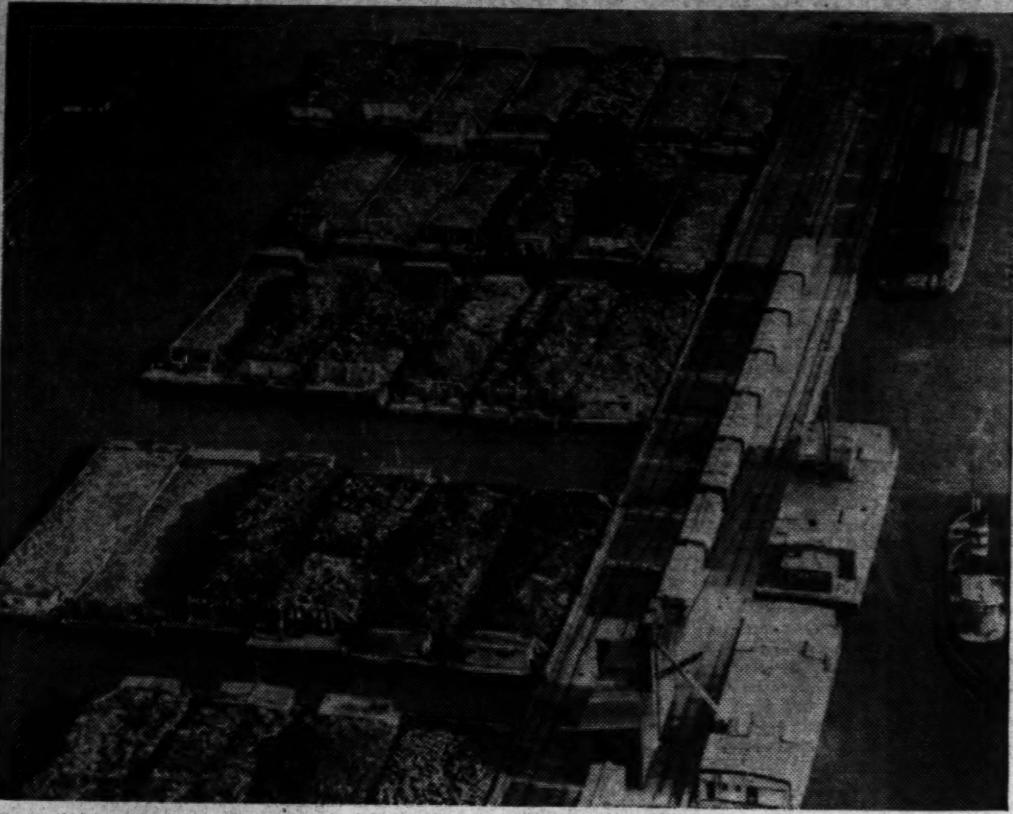

SLUMP IN U. S. EXPORTS TO SOVIET DUE TO WAR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(AP)—A recent precipitous drop in United States exports to Soviet Russia was attributed by a Commerce Department expert today to wartime curtailment of shipping and not to any political factors.

Reports to the department were that orders for September and October were larger than for any previous months of 1939, but were apparently prevented deliveries. Exports declined from $5,569,000 in September, 1938, to $1,785,000 last September.

Potential Death--Will It Feed Maws of Nazi Cannon?

Twenty-nine bargeloads of potential death lie off a Jersey City pier, their scrap iron destined for the guns of Europe. Scrap iron, under conditions today, is commonly used to make shells and shrapnel. In ordered rows, the barges wait for their cargo to be loaded . . .

Aboard vessels like the Italian steamer Ada, shown here taking aboard the scrap at her pier in Weehawken, N. J. It has been pointed out that Italian neutrality makes it possible for the Mussolini government to route imports through to the German Reich.

15 U. S. SHIPS TO FLY FLAG OF PANAMA

American citizens to travel to belligerent ports in Europe or to enter combat zones which have been defined by President Roosevelt.

The Standard Oil Company reported that it understood the tanker H. H. Rogers had struck the American flag in Boston, hoisted the Panamanian flag in its place and replaced its American crew with Canadians. The company denied charges by the National Maritime Union that it intended to transfer 16 of its tankers to the flag of Canada, a belligerent.

The Standard officials said there was some difference between their case and that of the United States Lines because their Panamanian subsidiary had been in operation about five years.

40 Ships Transferred.

It was estimated in Maritime Commission circles that the transfer of 40 ships to foreign flags had been approved since the war broke out. This included the Standard Oil tankers and 14 ships sold to the Brazilian government by the Moore - McCormack Steamship Company of New York in a deal financed by the Export-Import Bank.

Criticism of the proposed United States Lines transfer continued on Capitol Hill, Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, saying that "many of those who voted for the neutrality bill never dreamed that this kind of subterfuge would be used." Senator Adams, Democrat, Colorado, told reporters:

"I never did believe that we should have taken our shipping off the seas, but since the neutrality law has been enacted I don't think there should be any fudging on it. The transfer appears in the nature of an effort to circumvent the law."

W. R. Ferguson, of Loew's, Inc., New York, was joined here by Miss Katherine Brown, of Selznick International Pictures, and William Hebert and E. V. Coleyman, both of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Will Be in Charge.

Coleman and Hebert will be in charge of arrangements for the premiere, but Ferguson and Miss Brown will leave in a few days. Premiere headquarters will be on the second floor of the Georgian Terrace.

Mayor Harrisfield conferred at length with Ferguson yesterday, but later said no definite plans had been outlined to him.

Some doubt has been expressed as to whether all of the stars in the movie version of Margaret Mitchell's saga of the War Between the States would attend the premiere because of their work in unfinished pictures, but there was hope yesterday that difficulties could be ironed out.

Haven't Had Time.

The fact that the stars' appearance here was still considerably in doubt was borne out last night when Hebert was questioned by a reporter concerning definite plans for the premiere. Reiterating that officials had not had sufficient time to round out any definite plans, he said:

"The kind of story you would like to have is that Clark Gable and Vivien Leigh definitely will be here for the premiere."

"It certainly is," the reporter replied.

"Well, I can't say that, because we don't know yet who will be here," he said.

May Run Months.

After his interview with Ferguson, Mayor Harrisfield said it was expected "Gone With the Wind" would run for at least a month in Atlanta. Hebert said he could release no definite information on this angle, but hinted it might play even longer than a month.

The mayor also said he was informed the best scene in the picture was the burning of Atlanta, in which buildings over a 40-acre area were destroyed, while the most dramatic was the scene at the Peachtree Street bridge.

TAMMANY VICTOR OVER LA GUARDIA, COILING 1940 WHIP

Beaten 'Ham and Eggs'
Seek Recall of Olson;
Ohio Pensioners Raise
Limit for New Drive.

By RICHARD L. TURNER.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(P)—Political Washington eyed a Tammany tiger equipped with new, sharp claws today and came to the conclusion that any presidential candidate seeking New York support at next year's Democratic convention would do well to talk to the hall about it.

But Tammany, its resurgence of power amply demonstrated in Tuesday's elections, will, many observers believe, go to the convention with other things than a presidential election in mind. Its realistic politicians will be thinking, the feeling is, of 1941's mayoral contest in New York city, and 1942's New York gubernatorial race.

LaGuardia Men All Lose.

Tammany was jubilant over the reverses suffered by Mayor LaGuardia. Only two years ago Mayor LaGuardia was re-elected in a Reform, Republican-Fusion-Labor movement which was definitely anti-Tammany.

Yesterday all candidates endorsed by the mayor were defeated, most significant, perhaps, in Brooklyn where William O'Dwyer, regular Democratic nominee of the Frank Kelly machine, defeated Republican William R. Bayes for district attorney by more than 220,000. The mayor had urged Bayes' election.

The amendment to the state constitution to permit pari-mutuel betting at New York's race tracks—which the mayor also opposed—was approved by a margin of more than 600,000. The mayor said, however, that he was not surprised.

Pension Plans Beaten.

Pondering these things the capitalist noted with almost equal interest, the emphatic rejection of old-age pension plans in California and Ohio. The Pacific coast state the "ham and eggs"—$30 every Thursday" program was turned down by a 2-to-1 margin. Only one out of every four Ohioans voted for the pension scheme presented there.

The result left the pensionists in both states promising to renew their battle, not next year, but immediately with a "recall" movement already launched against Governor Olson in California.

Philadelphia Republican.

The Republican victory in the Philadelphia mayoral election prompted members of that party to predict triumph in the Keystone state in 1940. Democrats pointed out, in reply, that Philadelphia has been Republican since the Civil War.

DRY LEADER DIES HERE AT AGE OF 75

Rev. F. P. Leckliter succumbs at Daughter's Home.

The Rev. F. P. Leckliter, Methodist minister, former secretary of the Michigan Anti-Saloon League and at one time a member of the Missouri state legislature, died last night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Russell B. Davis, 507 South McDonough street, Decatur. He was 75 years old.

The Rev. Mr. Leckliter had been visiting here for about a year and a half. He was a native of Worthington, Ohio.

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Trinity Chapel with Dr. D. P. McGaughy officiating. The body will be forwarded by A. S. Turper & Sons to Detroit where burial will take place.

supporter, coined a new phrase in description of the 33 agencies sharing in the funds raised.

"You solicitors for the Fund are representing what we can sincerely call 'certified charity' in Greater Atlanta."

"Every one of the 33 agencies has been tried and found not wanting in the services they render, but let us remember this when anyone is critical of the work done—the agencies are limited only by the generosity of the contributors and can do just as much as the people provide funds to carry out."

"Every American is fortunate," he said, "to be able to contribute through a Community Fund. Do any of you think that such a system of neighborly assistance would be tolerated in totalitarian Germany or Russia?"

"Last year just 10 per cent of the population of Greater Atlanta gave to the Community Fund. We must bring to all the able givers the realization that they have a neighborly responsibility in supporting their Community Fund," he added.

Dean Raimundo de Ovies, prominent Episcopal pastor in Atlanta, will be the principal speaker at the second report meeting at 12:30 o'clock Friday at the Athletic Club.

Earlier in the day heads of departments representing some 1,400 state of Georgia employees who work in Atlanta and who have a total annual pay roll of $2,400,000, met with Community Fund leaders and pledged support of the bulk of these workers.

BROWDER'S SPEECH BANNED AT HARVARD

Action Is Believed Unprecedented; Indictment Given as Reason.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 8.—(UP)—In action believed unprecedented in the 303-year history of the nation's oldest university, Harvard corporation officers tonight barred Earl Browder from filling a speaking engagement there because of his indictment for obtaining passports under false names.

The general secretary of the Communist party was to speak at the new lecture hall on the university grounds next Wednesday under auspices of the John Reid Society, undergraduate organization named to honor the Harvard alumnus who became a Russian revolutionary hero.

STODDARD DENIES
HE WILL QUIT POST

Says Recent Appointment
Won't Cause Change.

Adjutant General John E. Stoddard yesterday denied published reports he planned to retire as adjutant general after assuming command of a new coast artillery anti-aircraft regiment.

The reports said that Stoddard's resignation had been placed on Governor Rivers' desk to be acted on when the chief executive returns to the city Monday. Stoddard said he planned to see the Governor Monday but added that he had not submitted a resignation. The adjutant general entered a plea of guilty to driving while intoxicated last week.

The resignation reports were circulated after Stoddard's assignment to command the new regiment was announced but he made it clear yesterday that the new assignment, which is in addition to his other duties, was set up several weeks ago.

Mrs. Sumpter said her son disappeared shortly after visiting here and prior to that time had been complaining of severe headaches. He had been living at Plains, Ga., and was connected with the HOLC.

His mother described him as being about five feet, 11 inches tall, weighing about 160 pounds, with brown hair and eyes.

Injunction Halts Building Of Tourist Camp on Stewart

Boykin Gets Temporary Restraining Order Against Construction of 21 Cabins Pending Hearing Today by Zoning Board on Petition To Permit Business.

A temporary injunction stopping building of 21 tourist camp cabins on a 13-acre tract on Stewart avenue was granted by the Fulton superior court yesterday on petition of Solicitor General John A. Boykin, acting for the county board of zoning appeals.

The court action came while the zoning appeal board was preparing to act this afternoon on the petition of Lawrence Kelly, of Homewood, Ala., to rezone the 13-acre plot for business.

Boykin set out in his plea before Judge Hugh M. Dorsey that Kelly is building cabins without the property being zoned for business and that he has never applied to the county commissioners for a tourist camp license. Date for hearing was set for November 17.

Courtland S. Gilbert, secretary of the board, said that Kelly had asked for business zoning but had started construction of the camp before his petition was granted or denied.

Also to be considered by the zoning appeal board this afternoon will be appeals of Matthias Peacock for business zoning of a small tract on Stewart avenue near Cleveland avenue for a trailer camp and drive-in business; the appeal of the Texas Company for rezoning of vacant property at Peachtree road and Brighton road for a filling station, and others.

MARINES WILL ENLIST
EXPERIENCED TYPISTS

Marine Corps Recruiting Office in the municipal auditorium announced yesterday that authority had been received to enlist experienced typists for duty in the southern recruiting division.

The Atlanta office also reported that four men had been enlisted this week and that three others had been accepted and were awaiting transfer to Macomb hospital. They are Jim C. Bolden, Cummings; Joseph C. Cochran, Social Circle; Alfred C. Cash, Austell; Norman H. Bryant, Chattanooga; Jack Henderson, Knoxville, and Warren L. Sikes, 577 Washington street, Atlanta.

Atlanta was selected yesterday over Louisville and New Orleans for the 1941 convention of Kiwanis International, Faber A. Bollinger, executive vice president of the Atlanta Convention and Visitors' Bureau, announced, following word from the board of trustees meeting in Chicago.

This is the second time the city has been chosen for the international convention. The first was held here in 1923. Approximately 5,000 persons will attend the 1941 meeting.

George Giese, president of the Atlanta Kiwanis Club; Hamilton T. Holt, governor of the Georgia district, and the 57 clubs in Georgia will be hosts to the visiting Kiwanians.

Henry C. Heinz and Carl E. Endicott, Atlantans, are past international presidents of Kiwanis International. Faber Bollinger is a past international trustee.

The 1940 international convention is scheduled for Minneapolis.

The general secretary of the Communist party was to speak at the new lecture hall on the university grounds next Wednesday under auspices of the John Reid Society, undergraduate organization named to honor the Harvard alumnus who became a Russian revolutionary hero.

COOGAN'S DEFENSE LIES WITH WEBSTER

Case Hinges on Interpretation of 'Stepping Out.'

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 8.—(P)—

It's up to a jury to determine whether "stepping out," as used by Actor Jackie Coogan, means what Mr. Webster says it does, or something else.

Coogan is being sued for $30,000 by Princess Luana, entertainer, who charges her character was defamed. She says Coogan saw her walk into a night club with his stepfather, Arthur Bernstein, and remarked:

"He (Bernstein) is stepping out with Luana and my mother probably is waiting for him at home." She complained that "stepping out," referring to a married man and a single woman, implied an illicit relationship. Coogan, asking dismissal, contended it meant what the dictionary says, i.e., "To go on foot beyond a boundary." The judge said there might be two sides to the question and ordered Coogan's counsel to proceed with preparations for trial.

WORRY OVER DEBTS NOW EASILY ENDED BY ONE SIMPLE LOAN

"Mr. Kemp, why do people continue worrying themselves sick over debts they could easily end with one of those Industrial Loans?" questioned your reporter.

"Mr. Reporter, in most cases I think it is due to the very worry itself. A man who is burdened with numerous, pesky debts keeps himself in such a distorted frame of mind that he doesn't offend think of the many assets he gets from a good loan. Why, one loan of enough money easily ends his financial worries—and the best part of it is that The Industrial Loan & Security Company loans any reliable person $50 to $1,000 at once!

"It's easy to understand the convenience obtained and good business judgment used in getting enough money in one loan to pay up back debts—and have extra cash. Too, making only one payment each month, instead of meeting numerous bills, is a big help in putting a man's mind at ease. Besides giving him immediate financial aid, an Industrial Loan helps him establish credit; getting the money enables him to do better work with less worry—and considering everything—makes him much happier!"

"One simple, Industrial Loan does all of that. And the money is easy to get. Many loans are made on personal signatures alone if the person is working regularly and has a good reputation. Or, he may obtain a loan on any collateral of value as security. There isn't any delay—he simply walks into the Industrial Loan office—states his money needs in strict confidence and privacy and in a very short time walks out with the necessary cash. He pays a low rate of interest, and has from 6 months to 2 full years to make payments.

"My advice is to do something about debts NOW. Get an Industrial Loan!"

This is one of a series of advertisements prepared with Mr. Kemp. He is executive vice president in charge of the Industrial Loan & Security Company, 210 Peachtree Street. He will gladly advise you on money needs. See him right away!—(adv.)

WHY 36%?

The total minimum need of the 33 agencies sharing in the Community Fund is $541,403... 36% more than last year's quota... WHY?...

BECAUSE... By a careful, business analysis, we know that your Community Fund agencies need $143,000 more than they had last year to carry on their great work for 1940.

BECAUSE... This money collected will enable us to properly serve over 35,000 deserving men, women, and children in the city of Atlanta.

BECAUSE... The time has come for Atlanta to do this job properly, and every civic-minded citizen has a splendid opportunity to make our city a better place in which to live.

... So you see, the job must be done, but it is not an easy job, and there are only TWO WAYS in which to do it. First, those many Atlantans who failed to contribute last year must come forward and DO THEIR PART THIS YEAR. Second, every public-spirited individual who gave last year must realize the necessity of this increase. If this is done, it means that each individual must "up" his last year's subscription by 36%.

The Fund Agencies are doing a splendid job, but they are limited—limited only by the generosity of the public.

When you make out your pledge card, remember to do the job right this year—36% more.

Chance Meeting at World's Fair Results in Presents for Atlantans

By Sally Forth.

The following story concerning the beautiful wedding present received by Augusta King sounds as though it had been lifted from the pages of fiction. Augusta's marriage, you know, will be an interesting social event of Saturday afternoon, and her fiance, William Elkins, of Pittsburgh, arrived yesterday.

Augusta, you know, spent the greater part of last year in New York. One day in the summer, accompanied by her fiance, she visited the World's Fair, and among the exhibits which claimed their time and interest was the British pavilion. The Wedgwood display was of particular interest to the couple, for Augusta is noted for her artistic taste and the exquisite English china had special appeal for her.

As the couple discussed the display, another "fair" visitor joined them in conversation concerning the china.

"You should make your husband buy some for you," he said to the Atlanta belle.

When Augusta told him she was "just engaged," he said: "Well, if you will drink Ruppert's beer, and if you will buy Wedgwood china, and if you will let me know when the wedding takes place, I'll send you a present."

He then presented his card, which read, "George Ruppert, president of the Jacob Ruppert Brewery."

And yesterday he kept his promise, for Augusta received 42 dinner and 42 luncheon plates of the exquisite Wedgwood pattern.

WHEN pretty Caroline Massell becomes the bride of Simon Selig Jr. next Tuesday at a brilliant ceremony at the Standard Club, the impressive double-ring ceremony will be used and will feature a note of deep sentiment. The ring which the bride-elect will give her bridegroom will be the same handsome gold band which was used by Mrs. Selig Sr. when, as Miss Emma Printz, she pledged her troth to Mr. Selig in their double-ring marriage service. Caroline's bridal array will be enhanced by an exquisite string of pearls which were the gift of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Massell, upon the date of her engagement announcement several weeks ago.

MRS. BOBBY JONES is very congenial with her small daughter, Clara, who likes nothing better than hearing her mother relate stories of her girlhood. One of Clara's favorites is Mrs. Jones' account of the disastrous fire which swept a great portion of Atlanta when the latter was just a schoolgirl.

Last week the third grade at Christ the King school, of which Clara is a member, began the study of the War Between the States. When they reached the point in the conflict where General Sherman began his fateful march through Georgia, the teacher asked if any member of the class had ever heard of the battle of Atlanta.

Whereupon Clara arose and said with enthusiasm: "Oh, yes, I know all about it. My mother was there and saw it!"

THOUGH leaving today for the same destination, Emily Mohr and Margaret Palmer's paths will deviate when they reach Savannah. The attractive belles are motorizing to the historic city with Helen Fuller and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Fuller, former Atlantaites. Helen, you know, spent the past week as Emily's guest while her parents visited their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas as Fuller.

Turn about is fair play, so Emily and Margaret are to be the guests of the attractive Savannahian, who was graduated from Washington Seminary simultaneously with the Atlanta belles. Friday, however, Emily will desert her traveling companions to entrain for Jacksonville, where she will be a charming guest at the exclusive Friars' ball, taking place that evening. The fashionable Friars Club, an organization similar to the Nine O'clocks here, is host each year at a formal and a masquerade ball.

Saturday, the Atlanta gadabout will attend the Georgia-Florida football game, and the many festivities accompanying the gridiron tilt. While in Jacksonville she will be the guest of her cousin, Mrs. C. D. Wynne.

During Emily's sojourn in the sunshiny city, Margaret and Helen will motor to Douglas to spend Friday evening with Rev. and Mrs. Lee Belford. Mrs. Belford is the former Cora Louise McGehee, of Greenville, Miss., in whose mar-

Ridge last spring Margaret was an attendant. This will be Margaret's first visit to her former room-mate at Randolph-Macon, "C. L." as the lovely bride is affectionately known, needs no introduction to Atlantans, having visited Margaret and Sarah Lewis before her marriage.

Saturday Margaret and her hostess will return to Savannah, where the latter has planned an interesting program of entertainment for her lovely visitor, who will remain her guest until Sunday.

Well-Balanced Diet Contributes to a Longer, Healthier Life

Vitamin G Wards Off the Signs Of Old Age

By Ida Jean Kain.

When we live out-of-doors and work and play in the sunshine, we manufacture our own vitamin D through the action of the sun's rays on the skin. In the winter, when the days are short and the sunshine thin, we must seek other sources.

The choice of these is widening. You can now get your D in irradiated foods—vitamin D milk, for example. Or you can take one of the codliver or halibut oil concentrates. You can rent or buy a sun lamp. Or, maybe, you can go to Florida or California for the winter.

The anti-rachitic vitamin D popularly known as the sunshine vitamin, is necessary to the utilization of calcium and phosphorus. It is essential to growth, which you have no doubt completed, but it continues to be necessary to strong bones and teeth.

New Vitamin G.

Vitamin G is really a member of the B family. Just so you will recognize it under its right name, it is called riboflavin. It is necessary to growth, is important to the health of skin and hair, and is considered a valuable factor in warding off the characteristics of old age. Best sources are eggs, lean meat, milk, fruits and those green, leafy vegetables.

The P-P Factor.

The pellagra-preventive vitamin now being tagged by its chemical name of nicotinic acid, belongs to the B clan. It is supplied in liver, kidney, muscle meats and fish, milk and green leafy vegetables.

Still another offshoot of the probable B complex is vitamin B₆, also known as Vitamin H, and chemically as anti-acrodynia. This vitamin has to do with the relief of nervousness and weakness and is found in vegetable fats, seeds of the cereal grains, legumes, yeast, meats and fish.

Vitamin E.

Not much is known about the anti-sterility vitamin E. Tests have shown it to be necessary for reproduction in animals but there is not yet sufficient proof that it is required by human beings.

In H. N. Holmes' book, "Have You Had Your Vitamin?" the author reports that vitamin E has been found invaluable in certain cases in which expectant mothers lost their babies. Vitamin A, B, C and G, however, all have a direct bearing on some phase of reproduction and a detailed discussion of their importance is given by Dr. Mary Swartz Rose in "The Foundations of Nutrition."

When the necessity for these food elements is considered and a study of their sources, the value of the balanced menu becomes evident. You can see that on a well-balanced diet which includes optimum amounts of milk, cheese, eggs, butter, fruits, vegetables, whole grains and lean meats you are not only protected against the various deficiency diseases but your diet contributes to a longer, healthier and happier life.

Q. Does the color of the egg shell indicate any difference in the food value of the egg?

A. The result of numerous analyses shows that there is practically no difference in composition between hen's eggs with dark (brown) shells and those with white shells, although there is a popular belief that the former are "richer."

Q. How may I remove from a table white spots which were caused by hot dishes?

A. Rub the surface lightly with a piece of flannel moistened with spirits of camphor, or essence of peppermint. Follow by an application of any good furniture polish.

Q. My hair has a natural wave

Formal Dinner Rules Never Change

By Sally Sover.

Though mostly we prefer to be informal, often even casual there are times when one wants to give a formal dinner. Formality in this case being more than a word, it implies beauty and the strictest conformity to rule both as to setting and service.

Style change—styles in silver patterns, in china and glassware and even in table linens to some extent, though the basic rules for a formal dinner are as changeless as the marriage vows. Lace mats on a beautifully polished table now are permitted for the formal dinner, whereas formerly an all-over linen cloth was the only acceptable cover.

In the accompanying photograph we have pictured a cover for one, showing the artistic use of the latest styles in silver, crystal stemware and china laid for a formal dinner. The well-dressed table might well take notice of these new style notes for its first formal dinner of the winter season.

A formal dinner "cover" never is cluttered; not more than two knives and forks are permitted on the table at once (with the one exception when an oyster fork makes four), and never more than three glasses besides the water goblet. A dinner, no matter how beautiful and correctly served, is not "formal" unless served by a man-servant.

In the photograph the individual flower centerpiece introduces a new style note. You can imagine how lovely would be a table with a crystal epergne at each place!

And I would like a formula for a wave lotion that I can make at home.

A lotion that does not require cooking may be made by adding two drams of gum tragacanth to eight ounces of water.

When it is soft, add one ounce of glycerine into which has been mixed five minims of oil of rose. A boiled lotion is made by gently boiling two drams of quince seed in one pint of water until the water has evaporated to 12 ounces. Strain through a muslin cloth and, when it is nearly cold, add one ounce of grain alcohol, one ounce of cologne water and six drops of oil of cloves. Put either of these mixtures on the hair and arrange it in waves while wet.

Have you a household problem to solve? Write your question clearly, sign your name and address, enclose a stamped envelope and mail to the Woman's Editor of The Constitution's Washington Service Bureau, 1015 13th Street, Washington, D. C. for a reply. Three of the most interesting answers will be printed here daily. Don't telephone; write at dictated.

As a remedy for bedsores or rather for preventing them, may I offer this suggestion, based on considerable experience in nursing practice. Refusing To Win Trick May Prove Smart Defense

By Harold Sharpsteen.

When your opening fourth-best lead, against an adverse notrump contract, is from a hand lacking re-entries, it is usually smarter defense to refuse to win partner's immediate return of your suit.

This is especially true if playing your high-card winner will provide a trick for defender's side. Furthermore, a hold-up may result in your side later, getting additional tricks in the suit should partner be able to lead it again.

Because this defensive situation is so often misjudged by players of average experience, let us see just how to recognize it in actual play.

North.	East.
S-A 6 3	S-K J 5
H-J 9 (7)	H-(K) 5 3
D-9 6 4 3	D-Q 10 8 2
C-9 5 2	C-K 6 3

West.	South.
S-10 9 7 2	S-Q 8 4
H-A 8 6 (4) 2	H-Q 10
D-5	D-A K 8
C-10 8	C-A Q J 7 4

West opens the Heart 4 against South's three notrump contract, East winning with the King. Note West's hand does not contain any outside entry card.

East returns the Spade 5. Now, regardless of what card South plays, West should refuse to cover. If he does cover West will make his Ace but not more.

Refusing to take this trick, West may be able to cash two heart tricks if East regains the lead and gives West another heart return.

Incidentally, consider South's predicament. If South is to take two finesses in clubs, which he must do in order to make his contract, two entries will be needed in dummy.

The Spade Ace supplies one entry. Where is the other?

It will have to be established in the heart suit.

So, if South is a cautious player, he will play his Heart Queen under East's King, on the first lead of the suit.

The Heart Jack now furnishes a needed entry to dummy if West refuses to cover a return lead by East.

Till tomorrow...

Suffering Women May Only Need "Build-Up"

A simple method is saving many women much pain and discomfort! It is based on the knowledge that women's headaches, nervousness, and cramp-like pains often are symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to a weak, run-down, undernourished condition. That so many women find relief from these painful symptoms through the CAR-

Beautiful Recent Bride

Tommy Witt To See Little Service Against Florida Saturday

All in the Game
-by Jack Troy

Southern California's Men of Troy—fellows with names like that ought to be careful, anyway—seem to be involved in the year's most unusual football situation.

Of course, it's based on the premise that the Trojans will represent the west coast in the Rose Bowl, and for the second straight year they seem just about "in."

The catch comes as to picking the opponent. Notre Dame has come along unbeaten so far and stands a good chance to stay that way going into their final game of the regular season—against Southern Cal at South Bend.

Now, suppose Notre Dame defeats Southern Cal. The Trojans still would be the west coast's representative in the big bowl.

But they would have to play somebody, and could they possibly ignore Notre Dame, if the Irish beat them?

No, they couldn't very well ignore the Irish of Elmer Layden, the thin man. And yet here they'd be playing a rematch in the Rose Bowl.

There is one way they could get around it—if Notre Dame won. They could say that the Rose Bowl game is played on the first day of the new year. Hence, they wouldn't be playing the same team twice in the same year.

And for the first time in modern football history an answer to an old contention would be provided. It often has been said that one team would beat another if they played again.

Here would be a chance to prove it.

Of course, it is not at all certain that the Irish will beat the Trojans, but if they do it will provide a real nutcracker for the officials of the Los Angeles school.

It would be tough on Tennessee, Cornell, Duquesne and Texas A. & M. if all come through unbeaten, but that's the situation. And it is one worthy of a lot of thought.

For the pleasure of Sugar Bowl fans, this would provide a chance to see, say, Tennessee and Tulane fight it out at New Orleans. And what could be more attractive than that?

A TIP ON ALABAMA.

Bill Keefe (New Orleans Times-Picayune) says he has a tip that "Those cagey gamblers over in Birmingham and Montgomery have a big wad of money to bet on Alabama. Most of the big bettors in the two towns think Tulane is licked the minute a Crimson jersey shows on the sidelines. They are mighty confident—just as confident as they were a couple of years ago when Tulane went to Birmingham full of confidence and got swamped."

"Alabama has scouted Tulane all season. Frank Thomas knows every weakness of the Greenies; every point of strength. The Tide will mix up running and passing on the Greenies and unless Red Dawson has his men ready (they rested last week) for their toughest game so far this season, the Wave will meet with a rude surprise from which they may not recover until it is too late."

Keefe adds that "Tulane is at a big disadvantage in its games this season because by now the opposing teams have become convinced that the Greenies haven't any sort of air attack. Alabama, they say, might put eight

NORTH FULTON, ROBERT E. LEE CLASH FRIDAY

Boys' High and Tech
High B Elevens Play
at Ponce de Leon.

By ROY WHITE.

Atlanta's prep football fans have the choice of two outstanding games Friday night in the fall just before the storm breaks next week at the beginning of the home-stretch of most every schedule.

North Fulton High wending its way towards its first N. G. I. C. Interscholastic Conference play R. E. Lee, of Thomaston, Ga., Buckhead—a homecoming and "appreciation" game. It's North Fulton's last home game of the year and the final chance for students and fans to pay tribute to a fine team and two fine coaches, Weyman Tucker and Wedington Kelly.

The other half of the night's program include Boys' High and Tech High's B teams at 8 o'clock at Ponce de Leon park, in a fore-runner to the varsity game Friday night week.

DECATUR-GRIFFIN.

Other games involving Atlanta teams Friday include Decatur at Griffin; Commercial and Jordan High at Columbus; Marist College and Richmond Academy at Augusta, Ga., and G. M. A. and Darlington at Rome.

Tech High and Boys' High will have a much needed open date, looking forward to their big game for Friday night, November 17, at Ponce de Leon park.

Sixteen senior members of the North Fulton team will play their last game for the Bulldogs on Dykes field against R. E. Lee, from Thomaston. Those performing the last time before home folks include Dick Gray and Martin Nichols, two of the finest backs in the city; Luther Rabun, Ed Fraser, Charles Cates, Tommy Blackwell, Captain Frank Beall, Olin Rambo, Richard Lamb, Gene Broadwell, Charles Westbrook, Jack Hoffman, Manfred Wiman, T. J. Saine, Lee Daughtridge and Jimmy Coleman.

SLATON TO RETURN.

Only Ralph Slaton will be left in the backfield to carry on next year.

North Fulton has practically cinched the northern division of the N. G. I. C. with only Spalding High in the southern division having a chance and should the two continue in the undefeated class, a play-off would determine the championship.

Lee and Marietta haven't as strong teams as last year and do not offer any real obstacle in the way of North Fulton's first title chance.

More than 3,000 spectators are expected to watch North Fulton close its most successful home schedule and pay tribute to the good coaching of Tucker and Kelly.

That Boys' High-Tech High B scrap at Ponce de Leon, the first regularly scheduled game between the reserve teams offer a new avenue of rivalry between the two. The reserve teams have been looking forward all year to Friday night's battle—it's the one game on their schedule and only the first 22 players on the varsity squads will be excluded.

NOVICE RIDERS RACE SATURDAY

Twelve novice riders, who have never won a race of importance, have entered the Armistice Day motorcycle race program Saturday and Sunday afternoons at Lakewood Park. Five of that number are from out-of-state.

Those riders seeking recognition and championships include Marshall Doty, Kalamazoo, Mich.; Chet Dykraff, Hammond, Ind.; Don Smith, Cabin John, Md.; Allen Hyche, Birmingham, Ala.; Charles Smith, Chattanooga, and Eddy Kyle, Rex Miller, Waymon Gunter, Ed Byars, D. L. Anderson, C. R. Ledbetter and Vernon Holmes, from Atlanta.

Already seven of the country's outstanding riders with national championships in addition to several state winners have entered to make it the greatest motorcycle racing program ever attempted in the south.

Woodside and Frenchy Castonguay, Springfield, Mass.; Teddie Edwards, Atlanta, who recently won the Canadian championship; Stanley Wintiski, Paul Goins, Atlanta, who won the Georgia championship; Lester Hillbush, Reading, Pa., and Bob Beatty, Wilkinsburg, Pa., are riders with championships already in Atlanta and ready to ride.

COLEMAN BETTER.
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 8.—(UP)—Georgia Coleman, diving star, was "very comfortable" today at a hospital where she is under treatment for a liver ailment.

SENT TO FULLBACK BY BUTTS

OLIVER HUNNICKUTT, VETERAN GEORGIA BACK.

Vassa Cate Hampered By Childhood Accident

Bulldog Captain Fell Against Live Wire, Causing Present Leg Cramps.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 8.—An injury suffered before he ever saw an organized football game cropped up this week to harass Captain Vassa Cate, speedy Georgia wingback, and seriously impair his chances of playing any length of time against Florida Saturday.

Vassa has been bothered for the last few days with leg cramps, the latest attack coming at the conclusion of Tuesday's scrimmage, and Coach Wallace Butts said today he had given the Bulldog captain the rest of the week off in an effort to have him at his best for the 'Gators.

FALLS ON WIRE.

When Cate was 13 years old he fell from a sycamore tree near his home in Brunswick, coming in contact with a live electric wire on the way to the ground, some 20 feet below. He walked with the aid of crutches for nearly two months.

Everywhere his body struck the electric wire, which contained more current than is used by the state of Georgia in its electric chair, Vassa was badly burned.

That's what brings on the leg trouble now for he was badly scorched on the calves of both legs, the result being poor blood circulation, which physicians say cause cramps.

The Bulldog captain has been bothered with leg cramps before, being stricken in his sophomore year during the Oglethorpe game, and numerous times since in practice.

HARD STRAIN.

"Vassa has been under a terrific strain during the past month and has been working unusually hard in an effort to help us snap a losing streak," Coach Wallace Butts said today. "That's why we are making him rest this week."

From time to time since the season started, Cate has been given rest days but in the tough October drive he has averaged around three quarters of every ball game. Injuries and lack of capable understudies at the wingback post have kept the speedster, one of the Bulldogs' biggest scoring threats, in the lineup.

Cheer Butts said he would probably start Dooley Matthews, senior from Memphis, at the wingback post Saturday, but Cate will see plenty of service.

PIERCE NOMINATED.
NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(UP)—Harold W. Pierce, of Boston, has been nominated to succeed Archie Reid, of New York, as president of the United States Golf Association, it was announced today.

MUSTANGS STAND IN A. & M.'S PATH TO LOOP HONORS

Texas Aggies Fired Marty Bell; He Seeks Revenge Saturday.

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT.

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 8.—(UP)—Six years ago Texas A. and M. fired Marty Bell as its football professor.

Next Saturday Marty Bell goes back to Aggieland, and he couldn't be more feared and respected by his former employers if he toted six-guns on each hip.

Bell, since leaving the Aggies, has journeyed to the Rose Bowl. Now he takes his Southern Methodist Mustangs down to duel the unbeaten, unified Aggies—a great team that has whaled the tar out of seven foes and has its own Rose Bowl ideas.

Tripping up Santa Clara, Villanova, Baylor, Arkansas, Texas Christian, Centenary and Oklahoma, Aggies was just dress rehearsal for the main event, the Aggies figure. Southern Methodist is the team to whip.

Bell went the way of losing football coaches at A. and M., but there's one thing about the genial tutor they haven't forgotten. He knows the defense in football how to hobble the other fellow.

CAREFUL, MEN!

ALEX MCCASKILL WILL BE READY FOR ALLIGATORS

Star Soph Center Still Bothered by Knee;
Hughes To Start.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 8.—Georgia's center problem became genuinely acute today as Tommy Witt, brilliant sophomore pivot, continued to hobble around the practice field with a bum knee that may keep him out of the Florida game altogether Saturday.

For the second successive day Witt watched practice from the sidelines, and though Trainer Fitz Lute said he would be available if it's necessary, Coach Wallace Butts said the Louisville, Ky., boy apparently will be of no use to the Bulldogs against the 'Gators.

Steve Hughes, another sophomore more badly in need of experience, M. F. Carter and Marion Wilkes, also first-year varsity men, will have to handle the center post. Hughes, who will probably get the starting call, is a transformed tackle, and Carter is a former backfield man and guard. Wilkes is the only pivot man with the exception of Witt who is accustomed to the position, and the Athens lad tips the scales at 165, wringing wet.

BUTTS EASES UP.
Coach Butts "eased up" in today's workout and sent most of the varsity men in at 5 o'clock. During the hour and a half they were on the field the Bulldogs worked on fundamentals, drilling at length on pass defense.

The Bulldog mentor said Alex McCaskill, pass-catching end whose improvement has been phenomenal the last few weeks, would be able to go against the 'Gators despite a back injury that cropped up after the Mercer game.

McCaskill will get the starting call, Coach Butts said, and will divide time with Green Keltner at the left end.

"We'll drill even lighter tomorrow than we did this afternoon," Coach Butts said after the workout. Physically, Georgia is in good condition and the Georgia head man is taking no chances on every available man not being fresh for the 'Gator battle.

GIVEN DAY OFF.
Coach Butts gave Captain Vassa Cate and Bob Salisbury a day off and said Cate would "rest" for the remainder of the week. Salisbury will not come out tomorrow, and McCaskill is also going to have a

AUBURN, Ala., Nov. 8.—(UP)—Dedication of Auburn's new football stadium will not take place until the Southeastern conference clubs of Auburn and Florida clash here on Alabama's Thanksgiving Day, November 30, but the honor of christening the Tigers' athletic plant will fall to the frost outfit of Auburn and Georgia Tech.

The Tiger cubs and baby Yellow Jackets will collide Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in one of the leading first-year grid scraps of the season.

The christening affair with Tech will wind up the Auburn Rats' campaigning for 1939 and the will be out to tally another triumph and end the season as one of the undefeated loop teams.

Atlanta Y. M. C. A. Triangles defeated Fitzhugh Lee High school Tuesday night, 20 to 18, to break a five-game winning streak by Coach A. P. Gunter's Cobb county defending champions. Bobby Gaston's free throw, made after the final whistle, clinched the game. Russell scored 10 points for Lee, and Roberts counted 9 for the Triangles.

KENTUCKY PLANS TO BRING THREE TEAMS SATURDAY

Famous Band Will Accompany Blue Grass Machine to Atlanta.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 8.—The Kentucky Wildcats, who battered Alabama to a 7-7 standstill last Saturday at Birmingham, are in superb physical condition for their coming game with Georgia Tech at Atlanta. After today's workout, Coach Ab Kirwan found that only one of his regulars is not up to par. That worthy, Big John Elmer, who did a fine job at tackle against the Tide, suffered a sprained knee but laughed it off, saying he would be in shape for Tech.

Kentucky's amazing football team, probably the most improved in the country, will leave here Friday night, arriving Saturday morning at Atlanta in time for "brunch" before the game. Coach men on the line of scrimmage against the Greenies' attack, and play the other three men right behind the line.

"Regardless of Alabama's defeat by Tennessee and tie with Kentucky and regardless of the general opinion in this section that Tulane could give Tennessee all the Vols are looking for, I look for a mighty even battle Saturday."

STILL, THEY CAN PASS.
It is just barely possible that the worst thing Alabama could do would be to play an eight-man line against Tulane.

The Green Wave so far is an enigma. During the spring and part of the fall, Red Dawson had his men working on pass plays. True, Tulane hasn't resorted to passes up to now.

But hasn't Alabama had scouts at every game? They (the scouts) probably know the running game by heart. But they don't know anything about the passing attack.

And what did Tulane work on all last week when they didn't play—and what are they doing this week?

Here is one who is not yet ready to take for granted that Tulane has no passing attack. Alabama is acknowledged to be the "enemy" and certainly something special has been reserved for the Tide.

Ferdinand's Corner: They're giving away, of all things, blankets to visiting captains in Miami's Orange Bowl. . . . An orange, green and white blanket, stamped with the city's seal, is presented to each captain on the 50-yard line before the kick-off. . . . Vassa Cate, Georgia's captain, will receive one when the Bulldogs play Miami U. . . . Irrepressible Man Mountain Dean is pretty proud of his appointment as assistant national sergeant-at-arms of the American Legion, now meeting in Macon. . . . Carter Poland, Anniston, writes of an unusual happening in the recent field-trial at Fort McClellan. . . . "Brisk cold winds sweeping over drouth-seared fields made bad hunting for the trials of the Rod and Gun Club. . . . Not a point had been made after a day and a half of hunting. . . . About this time, a stray setter was found on the course frozen to a stiff point with a covey of birds just in front of him. . . . A soldier was ordered to take it to the kennels. . . . En route to the kennels, this dog found and pointed a single bird. . . . Although several points were made in the trials after that, the style of the unknown, self-entered setter was the most spectacular seen on the course." . . . George Griffin, Tech's track coach, in sheer desperation let another pick a football sheet for him—and he finished among the winners at the Flats last week. . . . It is most encouraging to see that the city athletic commission is taking action to have big-time fights allowed in the city auditorium. . . . But they've already lost Ben Brown for one big New York fight, and he may do most of his campaigning in Madison Square Garden in the future. . . . For its size, there is a place to stage big fights, Atlanta is the south's best town. . . . Public sentiment is for the auditorium as a fight site, as it used to be. . . . Zipp Newman (Birmingham News) writes that "There are no less than five All-American candidates on the Tennessee team: Molinski, Suffridge, Foxx, Bartholomew and Cafego." . . . Tech will have to look out for Kentucky's double-reverse on Saturday. . . . These two teams, still unbeaten in the conference race, have worlds of deception. . . . The Wildcats filing long passes. . . . They throw 'em half the distance of the field and sometimes connect. . . . It should be a thriller of thrillers. . . . Before more than 25,000 fans, inasmuch as the highest priced seat is only $2. . . . Santa Claus is coming early for Atlanta football fans. . . . L. S. U.'s Ken Kavanaugh is certain to win an end berth on the All-Southeastern team if he keeps his health.

holiday. Cate and Salisbury have been bothered by weary legs for the last few days from overwork in the past three ball games.

The team leaves for Jacksonville, scene of the game, Friday night at 7:15 o'clock over the Central of Georgia railroad. The university band, and a large number of student and alumni supporters will accompany it.

Pass Defense Stressed by Gators in 3d Scrimmage.

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Nov. 8.—(P)—The Gators drew their third straight scrimmage today as they completed rough work in preparation for their Southeastern Conference football game with Georgia's Bulldogs Saturday afternoon in Jacksonville.

Punting and passing still dominated the offensive portion of the afternoon drill, with shattering varsity elevens pitted against the freshmen in scrummage. The workout was ended with a defensive session against Georgia plays as run by the Baby Gators.

LASALLE CLAIMED BETTER THAN BROW

despite his 10-pound deficit in weight, LaSalle is regarded as the superior fighter in many quarters.

LaSalle, in fact, recently challenged Ben to meet him on a winner-take-all basis. Brown's manager, Sam Sobel, refused on the grounds that LaSalle was virtually unknown in Atlanta and the fight would not draw.

"Okeh," snapped the Frenchman. "I'll make myself an attraction in Atlanta. Then your fighter will have to meet me."

And so we find Mr. LaSalle continuing his campaign for a Brown fight Tuesday night at the Sports Arena when meets Carl Dell, New York Italian, who has won 41 fights in 42 starts.

LaSalle decisively whipped Battling Burroughs and Jose Estrada in his only appearances here. This time he meets one of the hardest tests of his career. Dell, managed by Al Weill, pilot of Lou Ambers, is a sensation in the east. His lone setback was a decision he dropped to the Cocoa Kid, and Cocoa told Dan Parker, of the New York Mirror, that Dell deserved that decision.

Meanwhile, Matchmaker Tom McCarthy, who is promoting Tuesday's show, his first fistic offering at the Sports Arena, is looking ahead and planning several important ring attractions, one involving Henry Armstrong, another Ben Brown and Ken Overlin. But before he can close for those fights, he must be assured of a more spacious site. The city auditorium is the answer. There were strong indications yesterday that Atlanta's auditorium may soon be available for big-time fights, just as are the auditoriums in Birmingham, Chattanooga, New Orleans, Kirwan intends to take three full teams along.

The Kentucky band, one of the most famous college musical organizations in the country, will make the trip to Atlanta along with a big crowd of fans on one of the special trains that are being planned.

Although the Kentucky team plays more as a unit than as individual stars, there are some outstanding performers who have caught the fancy of the crowds before whom they have played this fall. In Dave Zoeller, junior left halfback, the Kentucky coaches frankly believe they have the best back in the south. He is the lad who did such noble work in the 19-18 Tech victory over Kentucky last fall. Zoeller and Captain Joe Shepherd, dependable quarterback, a great punter and blocker, highlight Kentucky's starting team.

On the alternate eleven, which will relieve the veteran starters at the end of the first quarter, there are two of the fanciest sophomore backs in the conference. They are Noah Mullins, speedy and hard plugging fullback who was a great pain in Alabama, and Ernall Allen, tiny halfback with a throwing arm like Davy O'Brien's. Allen made life miserable for Vanderbilt in Kentucky's win over the Commodores.

Cats Say Jackets Stronger Than Tide.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 8.—(P)—University of Kentucky footballers heard from two of their coaches, Frank Moseley and Joe Rupert, today that this year's Georgia Tech team is stronger than the one that defeated Kentucky, 19-18, last year.

Moseley and Rupert, who watched as Duke beat Tech, 7-6, last week, described the Engineers as more versatile offensively than any team the Wildcats have met this fall, stating that "Tech is three or four touchdowns better than Alabama—or was last Saturday."

Zoeller and his roommate, Jim Hardin, end, who form a famous passing combination, were polishing up on their place kicking today. Between them they have accounted for all but two of the 16 points after touchdown made by the Cats this season. Zoeller has made the last four extra points in a row. They don't want to lose any more games to Tech or anybody else by the margin of an extra point. In the Tech game last year Kentucky missed three points after touchdowns. This year they have kicked 16 out of 21.

The Wildcats finished their pre-Tech contact work this afternoon and the players still are in fine physical condition.

Memphis and other cities, with the announcement by John A. White, of the municipal building and athletic committee, that his group was seriously considering eliminating the rule against the use of the building for paid fights.

GRADY HOSPITAL CALLED FIRETRAP

Dr. J. M. Beeler Says Change Is Up to Atlanta; Praises Moral 'Investment.'

Dr. J. Moss Beeler, superintendent of Grady hospital, told Atlanta League of Women Voters at their regular meeting yesterday morning that "Grady hospital is Atlanta's best financial and moral investment." He emphasized the fact that the success or failure of Grady depends "on the citizens of Atlanta, especially the women."

"Grady hospital will always be here but its progress and development to meet the growing needs depends to a great extent on the demands of the women of Atlanta," he said.

Dr. Beeler called Grady hospital a "firetrap" and it will remain so until Atlanta demands that this be changed." Future plans for the institution will stress child health.

"Unhealthy children are the poor students in school and become our community burdens," he asserted.

Dr. Beeler pointed out that "Grady comes in close contact with every home in Atlanta through the public schools and domestic service in the home. Therefore, Grady's problems are your problems."

$100-a-Month Heir Is Forced To Seek Relief

HOUSTON, Texas, Nov. 8.—(P) Daniel T. Rhodes, 67, who has a potential income of $100 a month from a brother's bequest, is going to the old folks' home.

W. S. Rhodes, Houston real estate man and oil operator who died March 27, provided for the income out of his $120,000 estate, but claims of $50,000 have to be satisfied before the bequests in the will can be allowed. Since most of the estate is in real estate and oil lands, executors estimate it will require several years before the claims can be satisfied.

County Judge Roy Hofheinz said he will ask commissioners' court if Rhodes can live at the county home until the estate is settled.

$3,000,000 IS PAID FOR IRONIZED YEAST

Mrs. Dodson Sells Atlanta Proprietary Remedy to Sterling Products.

Purchase of the Ironized Yeast Company, Inc., of Atlanta, by Sterling Products, Inc., of Wilmington, Del., at a price reported to be in excess of $3,000,000, was disclosed here yesterday.

The Atlanta company, a proprietary medicine concern, was established in 1928 by the late J. G. Dodson, and was owned by his widow. The sale was one of the largest transactions of its kind on record.

While complete details were not announced, it was understood the deal involved all of the company's Atlanta real estate said to be valued at approximately $150,000. This includes the manufacturing plant which occupies the block bounded by Fortune street, Forest avenue, East avenue, and Glen Iris drive, and an L-shaped building at 621 Peachtree street and 100 North avenue.

The three are the Scanpenn, held by the British at Kirkwall since October 30; the Black Osprey, of the Black Diamond Lines, held by the British at Downs since October 31, and the Hybert, of the Lykes Brothers Steamship Company, held by the British at Downs since October 30.

The State Department issued a list today of 13 ships examined by the British and French. This was in addition to 27 ships previously halted by the belligerents.

BELLIGERENTS HALT 40 AMERICAN SHIPS

The State Department issued a list today of 13 ships examined by the British and French. This was in addition to 27 ships previously halted by the belligerents.

The Sterling company controls a number of nationally known products.

SAMUEL C. DOBBS OBSERVES BIRTHDAY

Atlanta Leader, 71, Celebrates Occasion With Work—as Usual.

Samuel Candler Dobbs, who worked his way up the long ladder of success to become one of the nation's greatest financiers, celebrated his seventy-first birthday yesterday as he has lived his life—with a full day of work.

One of Atlanta's most distinguished civic, educational and philanthropic leaders, Mr. Dobbs came here in 1886, rising to the presidency of the Coca-Cola Company. He later founded Dobbs and Company, one of the country's leading investment houses.

His birthday Wednesday, typical of the way he has lived his life, closed with a visit to Emory University hospital, where he distributed the flowers that friends and admirers had sent to his office.

"I feel well and am glad I have been able to live so long," he said, "but am sorry I have been able to do no more good."

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those growing, aching, painful backaches people blame on cold or heat may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking care of the body. When they are not working well, they help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 18 miles of kidney tubes and filters in the body are tired, kidneys—and men—can be relieved when treated in the right way.

"MR. SMITH" IN FOURTH WEEK AT RIALTO

Today marks the opening of the fourth consecutive week of the engagement of "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," the sensational Capra production, at the Rialto theater.

This is the picture that aroused so much resentment among many of the senators and representatives when it was first shown in Washington. They thought the senatorial and congressional characterizations in the film not complimentary and did not hesitate to engrave the audience.

La

However, the general public, by its enthusiastic reception of the film, seems to think otherwise and, it is altogether possible that the public has a better perspective about congress than have the congressmen themselves.

James Stewart and Jean Arthur are the co-stars.

POPULAR TEAM STARS AT FOX

ARMY READY TO ASK FOR $1,650,000,000

Tentative Defense Plan Calls for Initial Force of 600,000 Men.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(UP) The army is prepared to ask congress next January for $1,650,000,000 as its share of a short-term $3,000,000,000 defense expansion program to insure the western hemisphere from attack, authoritative administration quarters disclosed tonight.

The tentative plan calls for an initial protective force of 600,000 men—largest in this nation's peacetime history.

Under the plan companion to the navy's program calling for expansion by addition to 95 light fighting ships, congress would be asked for between $750,000,000 and $850,000,000 during the 1941 fiscal year.

The army expansion proposals call for increased funds to be expended for housing, supplies and equipment, and aircraft.

Two squadrons of nine "super-flying fortresses," several hundred small, speedy pursuit ships, would be added to the present air force goal of 5,500 first-line planes by July 1, 1941. At present, the army has 51 four-engined bombers and 25 are under contract.

Greg Heath Takes Faith to Cocktail Party Given by Her Employer

By Margaret Gorman Nichols

INSTALLMENT I.

It was perhaps foolish to attach any importance to this party, Faith Gardner thought, gazing absently at the craggy peaks of skyscrapers in the gathering October twilight. Yet she could not stifle an unmistakable thrill at the thought that in a very short time she would, with Greg at her side, step into the apartment of her employer, Walter Edmonds and his wife Astrid, whom she had seen twice and the sight of whom always moved her to a silent little gasp of awe and admiration. Nor could she deny an immense curiosity to meet Carl Edmonds, Walter's youngest brother, of whom the indolent Greg had been sufficiently moved to speak with awe and admiration.

It wouldn't mean anything, she told herself firmly. There would be so many people there to welcome Mrs. Edmonds back from Hawaii that she, Faith, would certainly not be noticed. They had a daughter, too, the Walter Edmonds. Wonder if she was grown-up enough to come to her mother's cocktail parties. But no doubt she was in school somewhere.

A slim, long-limbed girl wearing a black tailored suit, Faith sat on the chintz-covered loveseat in the living room of the small but attractive apartment she shared with Gretchen Cole. A mirror above a mahogany wall table across the room reflected the unusual beauty and sensitivity and thoughtfulness of her face. Fair-complexioned, black-haired with liquid black eyes and full mouth, vivid and warm and responsive. Faith . . .

Greg had said that he would call for her at five. It must be nearly that now, she mused, wondering if Gretchen would come before she left, doubting it since the red-haired Gretchen, a successful business girl with the vague title of "stylist" in a department store, worked hard and late.

Looking away from the formidable frameworks of steel and stone, Faith glanced about the room at the deep chairs, the drop leaf table, the Sheraton coffee table, the full-length green rug and colorful chintz draperies with a look of pleasure that was akin to satisfaction. Roots at last, she thought. Something that is my own . . . A year ago after meeting Gretchen at a girl's club where the food was poor, the hot water inadequate and the atmosphere generally chaotic, they had pooled their resources to take and to furnish this small apartment of living room, bedroom, kitchen and bath and had not once regretted the venture.

The ringing of the bell startled her out of pensiveness, for she was about to think of the years that preceded today, years of which she did not permit herself to think too often.

Greg Heath, nondescript except for his overweight, with a shock of sandy hair and good-humored blue eyes and a ruddy face, grinned at her when she opened the door. When she saw him, she always thought, "Poor Greg." And wondered why she was sorry for him, seeing no good reason to be sorry for a young man who, through sheer laziness, weighed more than he should and who, through sheer laziness, too, had failed to progress beyond a comfortable income in the company for which they both worked. She had said to Gretchen more than once after an evening with Greg, "I'd like to shake him and give him some of my energy. But he's a comfortable, good-natured person, Gretchen, easy to talk to and kind and thoughtful, and he's been so sweet to me." Gretchen always said, "He's in love with you and one of these days he'll work up enough energy to tell you."

But he had never defined his feelings for her and their evenings together were as if they had been friends for a long time. They spoke frankly, discussed people, laughed at women's hats. And after the rather tempestuous advances of more colorful young men, Faith had come to appreciate these comfortable evenings with Greg. When he left her, she thought no more about him, and when they encountered each other in the office, they were politely formal. Of himself he had told her that he had come directly from a northern university to the company, that he was one of a large merry family in Boston and that he shared an apartment with a former classmate who traveled the greater part of his time.

He had a pleasant voice. "Hello. Not late, am I?"

"No," Faith said in rich contralto tones. "Come in, Greg." She thought, "and even if you had been late, you would not have hurried . . ."

"Gretchen home yet?"

"No. Saturdays are hectic days at the store." She looked up at him, liking him, valuing his comfortable friendship since she had so few friends, but thinking, "It shouldn't be you who rang the bell, Greg. It should be some one who makes my heart skip and stop, my hands weak, some one . . ." She said, "I'll get my hat and . . ." She moved away from him and smiled, and Gretchen's furs—with her permission.

"Okay. Take your time."

It was an utterly ridiculous little black hat she pulled over her black hair as she stood before the maple dresser in the bedroom furnished with twin maple beds, a maple desk, a crètonne covered maple chair and colorful hooked rugs. White gloves . . . Gretchen's furs across the shoulders of the black suit. One last look . . . How silly! With Astrid Edmonds there as hostess who would notice one of her husband's insignificant secretaries accompanied by an unimportant young executive? And why had Greg been invited at all? Perhaps she should not go, knowing the conservatism of the company.

When she came out, Greg arose and smiled. "You look swell. I really intended to send you some flowers. We'll stop on the way." "It doesn't matter, really." She would not permit this party to be important to her, to hope for anything . . .

He chuckled. "Oh, but it does. It's stiff competition with Astrid." "You know her well enough to call her by her first name?" He nodded, grinning. "Our families have been friends for years. So when I had to have a call Astrid pulled strings. That, of course, isn't generally known at the office. And I'm usually invited to their parties because there are never enough unattached men floating around. Waiter is swell. You'll like him. At the office he's the big mogul, the vice president behind closed doors, but he's a simple, steady person. You'll like him a lot."

Faith tucked her pretty chin in Gretchen's furs. "I've hardly seen Walter Edmonds at all. Once I took dictation when Miss Hills was away. I've seen Mrs. Edmonds twice, I think. She's very beautiful."

He was opening the door. "Swell couple. Very happily married. I don't know if Sue is home or not. She's their only child. She's run away from the best schools in the country. A cute kid about 16, I think. Grown-up all of a sudden. One time I saw her she was a kid and the next time she was wearing high heels and lipstick and dancing in a night club. A sort of problem child, I'm afraid."

At the curb stood Greg's black coupe. "Flowers first stop," he said. "Orchids."

You started to tell me about Carl Edmonds the other night . . ." "Tell you when I get back. Here's a florist's shop. Only be a minute . . ."

At the City Hall

Mayor Hartsfield yesterday vetoed a resolution to erect 12 additional 250-candlepower street lights at various points, asserting B. Graham West, city comptroller, had advised him that the approximate $300,000 annual appropriation for the department already is about $1,800 overrun.

An Atlanta-grown pineapple yesterday replaced the legendary apple in contributing to the downfall of George I. Simons, general manager of city parks. Simons visited Mayor Hartsfield's office with the fruit, which he said was grown at Grant park by some of the gardeners. Tempted, the officials ate it, pronouncing it "splendid in flavor." There, however, was one hitch. Simons had promised it to Mrs. Louise Respest and Miss. Lillian Everitt, attaches of his office. He was busy explaining that Hartsfield, by fiat, had prevented him from delivering it as promised. The explanation was "insufficient."

City hall, courthouse and capitol employees will view the magic of modern science in a preview of General Motors exhibit to be held in the city council chamber at 4 o'clock this afternoon, Mayor Hartsfield announced yesterday.

Carl T. Sutherland, director for the city personnel board, will get additional quarters by conversion of an adjoining committee room into office area, it was decided yesterday in a conference between Mayor Hartsfield and other city officials. Suggestions that additional floor space be provided by construction of an office over the present council chamber were discarded. In addition to the mayor, Councilman John A. White, chairman of the public buildings committee; C. J. Bowen, building; L. Glenn Dewberry, superintendent of the city hall building; Sanitary Chief H. J. Gates; Councilman J. Frank Beck, chairman of the sanitary committee; City Comptroller B. Graham West, and Sutherland, attended.

The county commissioners had a meeting scheduled last night to "consider grand jury presents" but it fell through when Hughes Spalding, county attorney, became ill and could not attend. The meeting was heralded as a "secret" conference yesterday because the session was to have taken place in Spalding's private office at 7:30 o'clock last night, and no one but commissioners was notified of it.

A $70,000 verdict was returned by a jury in Fulton county yesterday.

It was a default judgment obtained by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company against Mrs. Margaret H. Crass and Mrs. A. C. Porter on a loan made to them by the company in 1931. The jury awarded the sum, plus $1,302 interest to the life insurance company. Attorney's fees of $3,500 were assessed against Mrs. Crass and Mrs. Porter also. Both are white.

County employees who had county-supplied telephones taken away from them recently during a grand jury investigation, will save 33 1/3 per cent on their private telephone bills if Ed Almand, chairman of the commission, has his way. He proposed yesterday that 18 employees in the health department and the solicitor general's office be billed against the county and that the employees repay the county. The wholesale rate for phones enjoyed by the county would thus be given the workers.
